

FATHER SLAYS MAN WHO PUT DISHONOR ON YOUNG DAUGHTER

"BIG STICK" AGAIN SWUNG BY ROOSEVELT

This Time the President Belabors Certain of the Labor Union People.

MOYER AND HAYWOOD DON'T SUIT ROOSEVELT

He Reiterates That the Accused Men Are "Undesirable Citizens" Even If They Are Not Guilty—He Says He Has a Right To Criticize Men Who Are on Trial.

Washington, D. C., April 23.—In a letter addressed to Honore Jackson, of Chicago, chairman of the "Cook County Moyer-Haywood conference," made public today, President Roosevelt replied to the criticism of his recent letter, in which he referred to Moyer and Haywood, officials of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with implication in the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, of Idaho, as "undesirable citizens."

The president says he regrets any body of men should so far forget their duty to their country as to, by formation of societies and in other ways, endeavor to influence justice, or coerce court or jury; that they, not he, are trying to influence justice and he condemns what he calls their flagrant impertinence in the matter.

He says he indicated no opinion as to their guilt of the Steunenberg murder, but that it was a simple absurdity to suppose that because a man is on trial he is free from criticism as to his manner of life. He said he might as well be accused of trying to influence the suits against Harrison, some of whose friends had also criticized him. He said that Moyer and Haywood stand as representatives of those who habitually appear as guilty of incitement to or agency for bloodshed and violence. He added that he was profoundly indifferent to the condemnation of him for his criticisms of the undesirable citizens, regardless of the power of either labor or capital.

Tart Letter of Roosevelt.

The letter follows:

"April 22, 1907.—Dear Sir: I have received your letter of the 19th inst., in which you enclose the draft of the formal letter which is to follow. I have been notified that several delegations bearing similar requests are on the way hither. In the letter of the 19th inst. of the Cook County Moyer-Haywood conference, protest against certain language I used in a recent letter which you assert to be designed to influence the course of justice in the case of the 17th to murder of Messrs. Moyer and Haywood. I entirely agree with you that it is improper to endeavor to influence the course of justice, whether by threats, or in any similar manner. For this reason, I have regretted most deeply the action of such organizations as your own in undertaking to accomplish this very result in the very case of which you speak. For instance, your letter is headed, 'Cook County Moyer-Haywood-Pettibone Conference,' with the headlines 'Death cannot, will not, and shall not claim our brothers.' This shows that you and your associates are not demanding a fair trial, or working for a fair trial, but are announcing in advance that the verdict shall only be one way, and that you will not tolerate any other verdict. Such action is flagrant in its impropriety, and I join heartily in condemning it."

Man on Trial May Be Criticized.

"But it is a simple absurdity to suppose that because any man is on trial for a given offense he is, therefore, to

SPANISH QUEEN PREPARES NURSERY FOR COMING BABY

MADRID, April 23.—King Alfonso presided today at the swearing in of the recruits, and Queen Victoria, accompanied by the dowager queen, Maria Christina, was present in a carriage at the saluting point to witness the march past of the troops, which marked the close of the day's ceremony.

The interest of the people is so great that all day long hundreds of men and women linger in the vicinity of the palace, hoping for news. Queen Victoria has spent much time in the inspection and completing the arrangements for the elaborate royal nursery. She has devoted much care to this matter. The suite of Judge Loring, Manager Ryan's Virginia Estate, Tells Why He Killed Estes.

ESTES DRUGGED GIRL AND THEN ASSAULTED HER

Girl Was Brought Home Unconscious and When She Recovered Told the Story—Father Made Miles, Found Estes and Immediately Killed Him.

Lynchburg, Va., April 23.—Ex-Judge W. G. Loving, who late yesterday shot and killed Theodore Estes, at Oak Ridge, the estate of Thomas F. Ryan, was today admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000, the bail being allowed by Ball Commissioner Payne, of Amherst county.

Girl Drugged and Assaulted.

Charging Estes with drugging his daughter, Elizabeth, aged 19, and assaulting her while in a drugged condition, after learning of the alleged incident from the lips of his daughter, Judge Loving drove some eight or ten miles before locating the young man, and he shot him down with a double-barrelled shotgun, without waiting for the victim to explain himself.

Judge Loving represented Amherst county, before moving to Nelson, in the legislature, and served as judge of the county court of Nelson until that court was abolished by the new constitution.

For three years he has been in charge of the Ryan estate as superintendent.

Girl Brought Home Unconscious.

Commissioner Payne made the following statement:

"Judge Loving learned that Estes had taken his daughter riding Sunday night, and he brought the girl back home drugged and unconscious. Judge Loving waited until he could get the full story from the girl's lips about the drugging and assault, and then he took his gun and went in search of Estes."

Judge Loving said:

"When I heard the awful story from the lips of my dear one, I was insane. I waited to learn all the facts, and then nothing in God's or man's power could have stopped me from taking his life. I did it after careful consideration."

Girl Confined to Her Bed.

Miss Loving is reported to be in a very nervous condition as the result of the affair, being confined to her bed by the ordeal.

GENERAL PUBLIC GETS PARTY RATE

Far-Reaching Decision by the Commerce Commission.

ORDER GIVEN TO RAILROADS

Use of "Party Rate Tickets" Must Not Be Confined to Amusement Companies, but Must Be Allowed to the General Public.

Washington, April 23.—A far-reaching decision was rendered today by the interstate commerce commission respecting "party rate tickets." Various railroads of the country have been going on the theory that such tickets applied only to theatrical or amusement companies. The commission, however, says that transportation of such amusement companies on party rate tickets would be similar to transportation where the same number of persons are not belonging to such companies, offered to travel, and that therefore the tickets must be opened to the use of the general public.

Dissenting Opinion.

The majority opinion of the commission was rendered by Commissioner Frost, Chairman Knapp and Commissioner Harlan dissenting.

A large number of carriers have filed tariffs confining the use of these tickets to amusement companies; and the commission was informed that there is an impression arising out of the silence of the commission on this subject that the commission had finally concluded such tickets might be thus limited. Before taking steps to bring the matter before the courts for determination, the commission sees proper to state the contrary view and to indicate in this decision the reason upon which it bases its conclusion.

After citing several court decisions, it was found that the circumstances and conditions mentioned in the second section of the act regulating commerce refer to the carriage itself and that the transportation of such amusement companies on party rate tickets would be similar transportation where the same number of persons, offered to travel.

Rigid Rule of Action.

"It will be seen," says the commission, "that under the holding of both our own and the English courts, section two prescribes a rigid rule of action. If the circumstances and conditions of the carriage itself are the same, the charge must be the same. We are unable to see how the carriage of ten persons belonging to an amusement company as a party differs from the carriage of ten other persons as a party in the same train at the same time and between the same points and we, therefore, are of the opinion that the party rate ticket must be open to the general public."

"This is not a case in which an order can be made. We simply state in answer to very many inquiries from interested carriers what our interpretation of the law will be. If that interpretation is not accepted by the railroads, we shall at once proceed to bring the question before the courts, where alone it can be authoritatively settled."

PRAY FOR ESTILL'S RECOVERY.

Children at Bethesda Celebration Asked to Pray for Benefactor.

Savannah, Ga., April 23.—(Special.)—At the exercises today of the 157th anniversary of the founding of the Bethesda orphanage a prayer for Colonel Estill was offered by Rev. W. A. Nisbet, during the progress of the exercises and the minister asked that all the children pray for the recovery of their benefactor.

Colonel Estill has been ill for about two weeks. He was thought to be gradually recovering from a severe attack, but last night there was a recurrence of his disorder and for a time it was feared that he could not recover.

WOMAN OF MYSTERY ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Fearing Reporters Would Make Her Ridiculous by Imperfect Description of Her Dress, She Gave Minute Description.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Late today a jury was impaneled for the trial for murder of Anais Louise DeMassy, a widow and in many respects the most remarkable prisoner who has occupied a cell in the Tombs. The woman is charged with having fatally shot Gustav Simon, a shirtwaist manufacturer, in his Broadway office, on November 8 of last year. The state alleges that the prisoner had quarreled with Simon over compensation due her for designing done for the shirtwaist firm. The defense maintains that the shooting was done by another. There was but one witness, a salesman, and he has refused to swear positively that the accused fired the fatal shot.

During the five months spent in the Tombs the prisoner has refused to discuss her case, except to assert her innocence, and has steadfastly declined to satisfy the curiosity of those who have become interested in her case. It is reported that she is a descendant of a noble French family, which was impoverished by the revolution, but even this subject has failed to elicit any explanation regarding herself or friends. When she entered court today her only concern appeared to be that the newspaper men should make her ridiculous by an imperfect description of her dress. She gave them a minute description. The motive alleged by Assistant District Attorney Ely for the killing of Simon is the fact that he owed the woman a small sum of money—$30 or thereabouts—for working one week in his employ as a designer of lingerie blouses. She had given up the place and had come for her wages. He put her off, telling her to return in two hours. Shortly after Simon was shot, and the woman was arrested as she entered the elevator.

TYPEWRITER HAMMOND DAFT FROM DRUGS AND LIQUORS

NEW YORK, April 23.—James Bartlett Hammond, inventor of the typewriter bearing his name, and president of the Hammond Typewriter Company, was committed to the Psychopathic ward, at Bellevue, for observation today on complaint of his brother, Thomas F. Hammond. The hearing preliminary to the issuance of the commitment papers was held in the street in front of the west side court building, in the presence of a wondering crowd of on-lookers. Hammond was driven to the court building in a cab. Word was sent to Magistrate Walsh that it would be impossible to get Hammond out of the carriage and into the court room, and the magistrate, accompanied by the court clerk and stenographer, and several court officers, repaired to the sidewalk, where the magistrate heard the testimony of Dr. Carlos F. McDonald and Dr. Coley, alienists; the brother, Thomas F. Hammond, and Manager Bryce. All of the witnesses testified that Hammond was "morally" irresponsible from the effects of drugs and liquor, and Magistrate Walsh at once made out the papers committing him to Bellevue. Hammond was born in Boston, sixty-eight years ago.

CARVER WEDDED 17 WOMEN AND ROBBED THEM OF $150,000

ATLANTA, MICH., April 23.—Dr. John A. Carver, alleged obligor, who is said to have married seventeen wives, as captured yesterday at Fort Smith, Ark. Carver is charged with defrauding his wives out of $150,000. The specific charge on which he was arrested was that of defrauding Mrs. Lois Davis, of Battle Creek, out of $25,000.

Carver married her on October 16, 1906 at Battle Creek, Mich. He went with her to New York and they decided to buy a boarding house. He told his wife to go home and raise all the money she could on her property and forward him a draft, and he would make arrangements to have her come on in two weeks, after all details had been settled. He got the money, it is claimed, and disappeared.

FORMER ATLANTA WOMAN ARRESTED AS SHOPLIFTER

NEW YORK, April 23.—(Special.)—A woman of 40, very refined in manner and prosperous in appearance, was arrested in a large department store on Fulton street today, charged by store detectives with having been seen to appropriate the handbags containing the purses of two other women shoppers while they were inspecting bargains. The accused woman seems to be an unquestionably southern. When arrested she gave the name of Martha Lawton Burger. The detectives believe this is an assumed name. One of the women who claimed a purse with $15, after a long interview, absolutely refused to prosecute her. As she went out of court she told the reporters that "Mrs. Burger" was a Louisville woman, of very respected antecedents, well known in society in several state capitals, and that the detectives were brutes to prosecute her for what was probably a fit of temporary lunacy. The woman's lawyer, however, said in court that she was from Atlanta, where she had always been respected in society, but had lived here about three years.

ANANIAS AND SAPHIRA CLUB ORGANIZED BY ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, April 23.—Senator Chauncey M. Depew celebrated his seventy-third birthday today by luncheon with the Women's Republican Association of the State of New York, which he helped to organize nine years ago. Mr. Depew congratulated the women republicans on being part of a campaign which had begun so excitingly fifteen months before the presidential campaign. "The chief result of that campaign, so far," he said, "has been the organization of the Society of

FLAWS IN RAILS CAUSING WRECKS

That Is the Opinion of Leading Railway Officials.

STEEL COMBINE TO BLAME

Alleged That an Exceedingly Large Percentage of Steel Rails Now Turned Out Have Flaws Which Cause Them To Break and Wreck Trains.

Chicago, Ill., April 23.—Bad steel rails are causing many of the disastrous wrecks on American railways, according to a statement made today by some of the most prominent operating officials in the United States, who are in Chicago attending the spring meeting of the American Railway Association.

At the meeting, a committee composed of operating officials, have been making an investigation of this matter, and have come to the conclusion that an exceedingly large percentage of the steel rails manufactured today have latent flaws which cause them to break under the impact of a fast train.

TRAPPED BY HIS WIFE, HUSBAND KILLS SELF.

EDGEWOOD, N. J., April 23.—Frederick W. Gardner, justice of the peace, and a wealthy residence of this place, killed himself with a pistol last night. Mrs. Gardner followed her husband to the door of an apartment occupied by a young woman. When Gardner saw his wife he drew a revolver and shot himself in the head.

DEATH TAKES MRS. TUPPER

Body Will Arrive in Atlanta Some Time Today.

A telegram was received in Atlanta, yesterday afternoon announcing the death of Mrs. S. G. Tupper at the Orthopedic Hospital in Philadelphia, where she went about March last for treatment, having been ill for several months prior to that time.

Her husband and son, Gedding Tupper, and some Atlanta friends were with her at the time of her death. The news of Mrs. Tupper's death, while not unexpected, comes as a sad blow to her family and many friends. Mrs. Tupper was born in Charleston, S. C., and before her marriage was Miss Deas Frost Geddings. She is survived by her husband and seven children, four brothers and four sisters. Since Mr. and Mrs. Tupper moved to Atlanta in 1891, she has made many friends, who grew to love her more, as they knew her better, and learned of her many fine traits of character. The body is expected to arrive this afternoon, and the funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at All Saints church.

WILL INVITE TEACHERS.

Gainesville Wants Convention of National Music Teachers' Association.

Gainesville, Ga., April 23.—(Special.)—The National Music Teachers' Association, of which Professor August Geiger, of this city, is a member, will hold its next annual session in New York in December. Professor Geiger is chairman of the educational board of the association. Professor Geiger will extend an invitation to the association to meet in Gainesville the following June. The association came south only once before, at Asheville, N. C., when the invitation was extended by Professor Geiger, and he has assurances that it will accept his invitation for Gainesville at the session to be held in June, 1908.

$1,000,000 GIVEN NEGROES BY QUAKERESS

Income Is to Be Used in Assisting Rudimentary Schools in South.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON ONE OF THE TWO TRUSTEES

Hollis Frizzell, Head of Hampton Institute, the Other Trustee—Miss Anna T. Jeanes, of Philadelphia, Is Donor—Deed of Gift Already Executed.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 23.—A gift of $1,000,000 for the establishment of a fund for rudimentary schools for southern negroes was announced here tonight. The donor is Miss Anna T. Jeanes, a Quakeress, of this city. Booker T. Washington, head of Tuskegee Institute, and Hollis Burke Frizzell, president of the Hampton Normal and Industrial Institute, are named as trustees of the fund, but neither of the institutions they represent will share in the gift.

The income of the millions of dollars is to be used for the sole purpose of assisting in the "Southern United States community, country and rural schools for the great class of negroes to whom the small rural and community schools are alone available."

The deed of gift was executed yesterday, and in it Booker Washington and Hollis Frizzell are empowered to appoint a board of trustees in connection with the fund. The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, of this city, will act as fiscal agent for the trustees.

Miss Jeanes Eighty Years Old.

Miss Jeanes, the donor, is about eighty years old, and comes from an old and wealthy family, which has been prominent for more than a century. She has long been interested in the welfare of the negro, and has been a contributor to institutions for their education. She has known Booker Washington for a decade.

In transferring the million dollars to the trustees, Miss Jeanes states that "trusting and believing in the practical and far-reaching good that may result from the moral and elevating influence of rural schools for negroes in the southern states, taught by reputable teachers, I do hereby appoint Booker T. Washington, of Tuskegee, Ala., and Hollis Burke Frizzell, of Hampton, Va., and their successors in the trust appointed and created as hereinafter directed, the trustees of an endowment fund in perpetuity of one million dollars, which is hereby created, to be known as 'The fund for rudimentary schools for southern negroes,' the income thereof shall be devoted to the sole purpose of assisting in the southern United States community, country and rural schools for the small class of negroes to whom the small rural and community schools are alone available."

Sole for Rural Schools.

"Should the said Booker T. Washington or the said Hollis Burke Frizzell decline to serve before they have established the board of trustees of said endowment fund, or if for any reason the same shall not be constituted by them within a period of six months from this date, then I request and empower the trustees of the Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute and the trustees of the Tuskegee Industrial Institute to select and create from members of their own boards a special board of trustees to act as trustees of the said endowment fund in perpetuity hereby created, and I direct that such board apply the income upon the said fund in like manner solely toward the maintenance and assistance of the rural, community and country schools for the southern negroes, and to encourage moral influence and social refinement which shall promote peace in the land and good will among men."

Statement by Washington.

In a statement signed by Booker T. Washington and Hollis Burke Friswell, they say, "That, while we cannot speak definitely, we feel quite sure that it will be the aim of the trustees of this fund to work in hearty sympathy and close cooperation with the county and state officials in assisting schools, and it will be the policy of the trustees to use the interest of this fund in a way to stimulate self help, and not replace local schools, but to supplement the money being appropriated by southern states toward the education of the negro."

"BIG STICK"

AGAIN IN ACTION

be freed from all obligations upon his general conduct and manner of life. My letter, to which you object, I referred to a certain prominent financier, Harriman, on the one hand, and to Messrs. Moyer, Haywood and Debs on the other, as being equally undesirable citizens. It is as foolish to assert that this was designed to influence the trial of Moyer and Haywood as to assert that it was designed to influence the trial of those who have been brought against Harriman. Neither expressed, nor indicated, any opinion as to whether Messrs. Moyer and Haywood were guilty of the murder of Governor Slemmons. If they are guilty, they ought to be punished. If they are not guilty, they certainly ought not to be punished.

"But no possible outcome, either of the trial or the suits, can affect my judgment as to the undesirability of the type of citizenship of those whom I mentioned. Messrs. Moyer, Haywood and Debs stand as representatives of those men who have done as much to discredit the labor movement as the worst speculative financiers, or most unscrupulous employers of labor and debauchers of legislators have done to discredit honest capitalists and fair dealing business men."

"They stand as the representatives of these men who, by their public utterances and manifestoes, by the utterances of the papers they control or inspire, and by the words and deeds of those associated with or subordinated to them, habitually appear, as guilty of incitement to or apology for bloodshed and violence. Scores Friends of Moyer and Haywood."

Heart trouble

BY

Dr. Nathan W. M.D.

The president of a large and influential commercial institution came into my office a few weeks ago and said: "Doctor, I have been trying to straighten out a little trouble I've been having with my heart."

"What have you been doing for it?"

"Oh, my physician says it's a case of weak heart and recommended a complete change and absolute rest. I acted upon his advice and just returned from a long vacation trip about a month ago. The trip did me some good, but the old trouble has returned and strong stimulants don't seem to help much."

I examined him carefully, questioned him closely, and discovered the trouble to be not of the heart, but of an impoverished nervous system, due to indigestion, insufficient periods of relaxation from business activities, unrestrained mental activity, all made manifest in the functional derangement of the nerves controlling the heart's action.

Had he come to me at the beginning of his trouble he would have been saved needless expense, anxiety and suffering. It is these deep-seated, chronic disturbances that we are devoting all of our time to. The average physician does not always cope with them satisfactorily because the greater part of his business is to deal with the acute, visible symptoms and diseases. Chronic disorders are very limited. There is no need for you to risk taking medicine. Correct diagnosis is 90 per cent of a cure. Our 25 years of experience will save you time, money and suffering.

Consult us today—we will give you a thorough examination without expense or obligation on your part.

HOBSON TO MAKE UNIQUE TOUR

Five Government Experts Will Accompany Him.

WILL ASSIST THE FARMERS

Congressman Richmond Hobson Will Carry Over His District Government Experts on Sells, General Agents, Forestry, Cotton Culture and Rural Delivery.

Montgomery, Ala., April 23.—(Special.) Congressman Richmond Hobson is ready for his tour of his district, accompanied by a number of departmental experts, the object being to give to the farmers of his territory all the information that can be had from the government forces of the nation. There will be a large party and the subjects dealt with will be soils, good roads, forestry and education.

"It is now finally settled," writes Captain Hobson, "that four experts are to accompany me on my canvass, beginning the 6th of May. Dr. Bonsteel, of the bureau of soils; Sam C. Lancaster, of the good roads office; William L. Hall, an expert forester, and an expert on cotton culture, whose name will be known in a day or two. A fifth expert from the postoffice department will join the party at Tuscaloosa, but will remain behind to map out the rural free delivery possibilities."

This trip of the young congressman from the sixth is one of the most unique of all the canvasses that have been made of a district or territory. He outlined the plan at the Pinehurst meeting of the conference for education in the south, and it caused the most enthusiastic comment and approval. He is to take these men, who are paid by the government, and let them give the people everything they know, teach them how to analyze soils and show them the best way to improve roads. An experimental mile of road will be built in one of the counties.

JAMES L. MAYSON WILL SPEAK.

Will Be Orator at Deatur-Money Ready for Monument.

Decatur, Ga., April 23.—(Special.)—A large crowd will be present at Decatur at 10 o'clock Friday morning to hear the speech of Hon. James L. Mayson, city attorney of Atlanta.

Unusual interest is being shown in the day, not only on account of the reputation of Mr. Mayson as an orator, but also on account of efforts that are just about to be crowned with success to build a confederate monument on the court house square.

The Confederate Memorial Association of DeKalb was organized on the anniversary of General Lee's birthday, this year, for the purpose of building this monument, and the executive committee is now about ready to let the contract for a handsome monument to be erected September or October of this year.

The officers of the association are: Messrs. Charles D. McKinney, president; C. M. Chandler, first vice president; James R. George, second vice president; Charles W. Smith, third vice president; B. F. Burger, secretary and treasurer. These gentlemen constitute the executive committee, while the advisory committee is composed of Messrs. W. J. Houston, S. A. Morris, L. N. Nash, F. L. Fudge, Messrs. A. K. Ansley and Mrs. M. V. Steward.

The amount of $2,000, which has been subscribed, will be turned over to the executive committee soon.

themselves the worst foes of honest laboring men.

"Let me repeat my deep regret that any of our men should so far forget their duty to the country as to endeavor, by the formulation of societies, and in other ways, to influence the course of justice in this matter. I have received many letters from you, accompanying them were newspaper clippings announcing demonstrations, parades and mass meetings designed to show that the representatives of labor, without regard to the facts, demand the acquittal of Messrs. Haywood and Moyer. Such meetings can, of course, be designed only to coerce court or jury in rendering a verdict, and they, therefore, deserve all the condemnation which you, in your letter, say should be awarded to those who endeavor improperly to influence the course of justice."

Moyer and Haywood "Undesirable."

"You would, of course, be entirely within your rights if you merely announced that you thought Messrs. Moyer and Haywood were 'desirable citizens,' though in such cases, I should take frank issue with you, and should say, that wholly without regard to whether or not they are guilty of the crime for which they are now being tried, they represent a thoroughly undesirable type of citizenship as can be found in this country; a type which, in the letter to which you so unreasonably take exception, I showed, not to be confined to any one class, but to exist among some representatives of great capitalists as well as among some representatives of wage workers."

"In that letter, I condemned both types. Certain representatives of the great capitalists in turn condemned me for including Harriman in my condemnation of Messrs. Moyer and Haywood. Certain representatives of labor, in their turn, condemned me because I included Messrs. Moyer and Haywood as undesirable citizens together with Harriman. I am profoundly indifferent to the condemnation in one case as in the other. I challenge as a right to support of all good Americans, whether wage earners, or capitalists, whatever their occupation or creed, or in whatever portion of the country they live, when I condemn both the types of bad citizenship, which I have held up to reprobation. It seems to me, a mark of utter insincerity to fall thus to condemn both, and to apologize for either, robs the man thus apologizing of all rights to condemn any wrongdoing in any man, rich or poor, in public or in private life."

"As to the 'Square Deal.'"

"You say you ask for a 'square deal' for Messrs. Moyer and Haywood. So do I. When I say 'square deal,' I mean a square deal to everyone; it is equally the violation of the policy of the square deal for a capitalist to protest against denunciation of a capitalist, who is guilty of wrongdoing, and for a labor leader to protest against the denunciation of a labor leader, who has been guilty of wrongdoing. I stand for equal justice to both, and so far as in my power lies, I shall uphold justice, whether the man accused of guilt has behind him the wealthiest corporations, the greatest aggregations of riches in the country, or whether he has behind him the most influential labor organization in the country. Very truly yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

PLAN WAREHOUSES FOR THE FARMERS

Important Conference Held at Birmingham Yesterday.

COTTON WARRANT EXCHANGE

Was Planned at Birmingham Meeting, and Movement Was Endorsed by Farmers' Union and Southern Cotton Association—All Southern States Represented.

Birmingham, Ala., 23.—At the conference held here today to discuss plans for the establishment of a cotton warrant exchange, the project was placed firmly on its feet by the liberal subscriptions to the proposed organization. The conference was thoroughly representative of all branches of trades allied with cotton development, men being present from as far north as Virginia, and as far south as Texas.

The plan contemplates the establishment of warehouses throughout the south, from which warrants will be issued on cotton stored, showing uniform grading and classification. A cotton warrant exchange is to be started in Birmingham upon which trading will be done on these warehouses' warrants.

W. P. Harding, of Birmingham, was made chairman of the meeting, and every one present favored the proposed exchange.

Each man present agreed to take at least one share of the stock, and many pledged other shares for their friends. Both the Southern Cotton Association and the Farmers' Union were represented by prominent officers and members, and both organizations are heartily endorsing the movement.

Dyspepsia. The word dyspepsia means bad stomach, but the disease means bad stomach, want of digestive vigor and tone. Don't blame the cook for your aches and pains after eating, your nausea, belching, your disagreeable belching, your fits of nervous headache, and indescribable discomforts, but build up your weak, broken-down stomach with medicines cure dyspepsia, restore lost appetite, and make eating a pleasure. Margaret A. Tremblay, Galesburg, Pa., says: "I suffered everything from dyspepsia for years. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first dose helped me. I can now eat anything I wish."

Accept no substitutes for Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills, for no substitutes act like them.

TELEPHONE POLE FOUND BURNING

The popping and snapping of wires kept citizens of the north side of Atlanta excited last night, the blocks between Currier and North avenue and between Currier and Spring streets being brilliantly lighted at times.

The trouble resulted from a grounded wire at the corner of North avenue and Courtland street, which made a short circuit, causing an electric light wire to burn into a pole at the corner of Peachtree and Linden streets. This wire was later wrapped around a tree, and at one time it looked as if sparks from the wire would set the tree on fire.

The fire department was called out to extinguish a burning telephone pole at the corner of North avenue and West Peachtree streets. The Bell Telephone Company officials stated last night that their wires in the north exchange were not affected.

BIG CHURCH BAZAR

AT TURN VEREIN HALL

The booths at the Immaculate Conception bazar, now being held in the Turn Verein hall, on the fourth end of the Forsyth street viaduct, were decidedly pleasing to the eye last night, while the gathering within the hall was much larger than it was on the initial night of the entertainment. During the evening a larger sum was realized by the different attractions than usually comes to a church bazar.

One of the most satisfactory and prominent features of the fair is the restaurant, under the direction of Mrs. H. G. Jennings. The restaurant opens every evening at 11 o'clock, and is now being patronized at noon by many of the leading business and professional men of the city. The fair will continue every night up to and including the fourth of next month.

GERMAN PRINCESS LOOTS MANY EUROPEAN HOTELS

BERLIN, April 23.—The criminal action which was brought against Princess Camilla Von Wrede because of the theft of silver from a Berlin hotel is to be abandoned. Medical experts have pronounced her insane. The princess is now in a sanatorium. The accusations against the princess who caused the sensation were brought by a valet of the princess's husband. The man had been discharged after informing the prince that his wife was a kleptomaniac and demanding $12,000 for silence. The valet was later arrested, charged with attempted blackmail. When the police searched the castle in Mecklenburg, which was leased by the Von Wredes, they found silverware valued at $45,000, which, it is said, was stolen from the leading hotels in Europe. The princess was Carmen Dolores Josefa de Benito, a rich Argentine woman. The Von Wredes have a palace in Madrid which is filled with rare art treasures.

LUNGS OF LONDON PEOPLE BLACK FROM COAL SMOKE

LONDON, April 23.—Dr. Sir Frederick Treves, lecturing for the movement for the abatement of the coal smoke nuisance, said that he had seen the lungs of many persons who had died in London which were black from the surface to the innermost recesses. This not only made it more difficult to resist disease, but started disease, causing appalling misery. These conditions were entirely due to dirt and soot inhaled. Everybody knew the terror of a London fog, he said. It would be merely a white mist but for the coal smoke which gave it its filthy, choking constitution. The London fog killed people by thousands, he averred. Experiments showed that during a bad fog 6 tons of soot were deposited to the square mile.

GREAT CROWDS AT LYLE TRIAL

DEFENSE CLAIMS ACCIDENT

Say Lyle Dropped His Gun, One Barrel Killing His Wife, the Other Killing His Baby—Bennett Argues for State.

Waycross, Ga., April 23.—(Special.)—The first of the case against Harry Lyle, who is charged with the murder of his wife and child, was called in Ware superior court at 2 o'clock this afternoon, immediately after the reconvening of court from the noon recess. Lyle was brought into the court room from the jail a few minutes before the court was called to order. He did not appear to be affected from his weeks of confinement in jail. His hands are white, but his face indicates health, and the confinement seems to have affected his complexion very little. Lyle had on his eye glasses, as is his custom, and seemed to enjoy glancing around the court room, viewing the faces of many of his acquaintances who knew him when he was the proprietor of a barber shop on Plant avenue. Probably the largest crowd ever before in the Ware county court house was present when the case was called. Every seat was occupied, the aisles crowded to the doors with spectators who could not obtain seats, and many unable to gain entrance looked in through the open doors. Several young ladies were present, and seats were obtained for them inside the building. Allen Johnson, of Moultrie, mother of the murdered woman, was in the court room, and was seated with the attorneys for the state, Solicitor General John W. Bennett, Leon A. Wilson and W. W. Lambdin. Lyle sat with his attorneys, Judge J. L. Sweet and John T. Meyers. There proved to be very little difficulty in securing a jury in the case. Solicitor Bennett made the opening argument for the state, and was followed by Judge Sweet for the defense. Judge Sweet stated that the defense would endeavor to show that the killing was an accident; that Lyle, in taking his gun from his shoulder just before entering his house, accidentally discharged one barrel which killed his wife, and that the second barrel, which killed the baby, was discharged as the gun dropped to the floor. The case will likely consume all of tomorrow and is expected to go to the jury tomorrow night.

In the afternoon the United Daughters of the Confederacy will have a memorial service, after which the graves of Confederate soldiers will be decorated.

PROF. WOOLFEY TO MAKE REPORT

He Will Make Many Important Recommendations.

IT WILL BE CONSTRUCTIVE

The Report of Prof. Woolfey to Georgia Educational Association Will Go Far to Unify and Professionalize Education in Georgia.

Athens, Ga., April 23.—(Special.)—The coming meeting of the Georgia Educational Association in Macon this week is likely to be one of far-reaching importance. The recent appointment of fifty business men by Chairman S. M. Inman to meet for educational conference in Atlanta, May 24, is but part of a general forward movement begun at the Georgia Educational Association a year ago. A committee was appointed to submit something definite in the way of betterment of the profession and improvement of education in Georgia. This committee is headed by Professor T. J. Woolfey, professor of education in the University of Georgia. The other members of the committee are Professor J. M. Pound, Superintendent L. B. Evans, Comptroller E. W. Childs and Professor J. Henry Walker.

The meeting in Macon will confer on this report. The chairman, Professor Woolfey, had a conference with a quorum of his committee at Pinehurst, and he is now completing the report to submit. This report will be constructive in its nature, going further than ever before to organize, unify and professionalize education in Georgia. The following are some of the needs to be laid before the association:

1. A professional state board of education in lieu of the present board of state house officers.
2. A state superintendent of schools substituted for the state school commissioner, and this officer given more power to unify and supervise the educational work of the state.
3. An amendment to the constitution favoring the development of high schools, especially rural high schools.
4. The county school commissioner changed to county superintendent of schools, for more effective supervision.
5. Local taxation stressed for increased school funds and longer terms. Increased appropriation also asked.
6. The teaching profession put on a footing with other professions.
7. An effective organization of teachers.

SAYS THAT MEAT WAS BAD.

A. M. Verner Brought Into Court To Answer Charge of Farmers' Union Officials.

The length of time which had elapsed since a bleeding, innocent lamb was led to the slaughter and offered as a sacrifice on the altar of gastronomy and the period at which it appeared on the table to satisfy the craving of three hungry citizens for barbecued mutton was the cause of A. M. Verner, the well-known restaurateur on the Broad street viaduct, being haled into court before Judge Broyles yesterday afternoon to answer the charge of selling tainted meat.

City Inspector Wassner was the official prosecutor in the case, but G. M. Davis, of Rome, state lecturer of the Farmers' Union and chairman of the national pure food committee; D. A. Carmichael, of Fairburn, and B. J. Wooten, of Forrest Park, members of the union, were the complainants and witnesses. Mr. Verner stated that he was not prepared to go to trial; that he had a large number of witnesses, prominent men, who had eaten dinner at his place yesterday at dinner, and that they would swear his meat was fresh and sound. He asked and was granted a continuance to present his side of the case this afternoon. "I serve from 400 to 500 customers daily," Mr. Verner told the court, "and I have never had such a charge made against me. I had great difficulty in obtaining only four lambs today, and they are so scarce that there is no probability of meat or other fresh meat becoming tainted in Atlanta at this time."

TWO RECEIVERS FOR RAILROAD

Chattanooga Southern Railroad Is Brought Into Court

PARDEE GRANTED PETITION

United States Judge Appointed Former General Manager Kent and Mr. Osburn Receivers of the Chattanooga Southern Railroad.

Upon the presentation of a petition by the Pacific Construction Company, a corporation under the laws of the state of California, Lawton and Cunningham of Savannah, and A. H. J. Joline of New York city, acting as attorneys for the complainants, Judge Don A. Pardee of the United States court yesterday placed the Chattanooga Southern railroad in the hands of two receivers.

The Chattanooga Southern is a line of eighty-five miles extending from Chattanooga, in the state of Tennessee, to Gadsden, in Alabama. Quite lengthy are the papers now of file in the United States clerk's office in this city, a full history of every feature of the complaint being set out by the attorneys. But for some reason the papers when filed with Judge Pardee's name attached thereto, were not made of record during the day but were pigeon holed in the clerk's office to be passed to the engrossing clerk today.

Enough is known, however, to warrant the assertion that in the petition it is set out that the Chattanooga Southern is indebted to the Pacific Construction Company in a large sum of money, that debt being evidenced by bonds issued by the defendant company and held by the movants. And in order to secure a redemption of those bonds apparently the appointment of a receiver was asked. Judge Pardee issued an order naming Former General Manager Kent and E. C. Osburn as co-receivers but the date set for a hearing of the case has not been announced. The action of Judge Pardee covers the states of Georgia and Alabama and today a motion will be submitted to a federal judge at Chattanooga, Tenn., for the appointment of a receiver in that state, Tennessee not being within the jurisdiction of Judge Pardee.

SHE WAS REARED BY OLD NEGRESS

Eight-Year-Old White Girl Lived With Negroes.

THE STORY OF VIOLA GLOVER

Is Peculiar One—Was Given to Negro Woman in Savannah Eight Years Ago and Raised by Old Ante-Bellum Darky.

Savannah, Ga., April 23.—(Special.)—The Salvation Army today took in charge Viola Glover, an eight-year-old white girl, of singular beauty and sweetness of face, softness of voice and charm of manner, holding her for possible adoption by some white family, thus removing her from the home of negroes, but in which she seems to have suffered from no lack of care or loving kindness. At No. 609 Duffy street, west, lives Mary Reddy, and with her for all of her eight years has lived Viola. The woman says the child was given her by Agnes Burton, a negro nurse, when but little more than a week old. Mary Reddy had a loving heart, and soon she found that the little one had become very dear to her. She determined to keep the baby. Mary Reddy is a negress of the old type. In bringing up the child there has been both the manner of a parent and the respect of an inferior. Never has the little one been allowed to play with the little darlings of the neighborhood. The pickaninnies have regarded her with a species of awe. There have been no white children in the neighborhood, so that little Viola has known no associates of her own color until recently when she was admitted to the Barnard street public school.

Comment finally was caused at school. No one seemed quite to understand Viola Glover. Then there gradually came reports of her life among negroes, and Miss Mell, the teacher, made inquiry. Captain Savers, of the Salvation Army, also learned of the case and made an investigation. It was found that the child was known among the negroes of the neighborhood of her home as Mary Reddy. The foster mother readily told her story, and her grief was poignant when she was told that she should give up the child. She recognized that this was but right and agreed to do so. Viola wept, too. The woman, however, calmed the child as best she could, and today carried her to the Salvation Army headquarters, turning her over to Captain Savers.

Trouble With the Government

When an individual or corporation has trouble with the government, you may rest assured there is something wrong with the person or firm. When you are right in every particular, there is no cause for alarm.

Many whiskey dealers and whiskey makers have trouble with Uncle Sam, but we have been in business for forty years, and our dealings with him have always been most satisfactory and pleasant. We have never had to explain why "fake" or "imitation" goods were found on our shelves, because we are posted on whiskeys, brandies, wines, etc., and nobody can sell us or give us a "fake."

We import direct through the custom house in Atlanta, a large quantity of foreign wines, cordials and liquors, and our prices are just as low as the prices asked by dealers in "imitations."

Royal and Select Master Masons of Georgia Chose W. H. Nurnberger, of Augusta, Grand Master—Other Officers Were Chosen Yesterday.

Macon, Ga., April 23.—(Special.)—The grand council Royal and Select Master Masons of the state convened in annual session in Masonic Temple here this morning. The entire business of the body was concluded at today's sessions, and tomorrow will be given to the Royal Arch meetings. The feature of today's work in the grand council was the annual address of Grand Master Thomas P. Noody, of Cuthbert. He devoted his time to the work of the council for the past year, and had many predictions for good in the future. His address was heard by a large number of the Masons coming to the meetings. There were not more than half the delegates present when the opening sessions were held, but later in the day they came in large numbers. At the conclusion of the work the annual officers for the ensuing year were chosen. These are as follows: Grand master, W. H. Nurnberger, Augusta. Deputy grand master, J. C. Postell, Savannah. Grand conductor at work, John R. Wilkinson, Atlanta. Grand treasurer and recorder, W. A. Wootliff, Macon. Grand chaplain, J. M. Rushin, Boston, Ga. Grand captain of the guard, John C. Harmon, Tennille. Grand marshal, T. J. Brown, McDonough. Grand conductor of council, J. B. Roberts, Atlanta. Grand steward, R. E. Etheridge, Conyers. Grand sentinel, Lee Wages, Macon.

Foreword to the Pages That Follow

April has shown a spirit so fitful, so persistently March and February-like, that we had almost become pessimistic when it came to the question of sunshine.

Monday, with its rain, rain, rain, set us to thinking. We planned things that nothing less than an ice storm would keep you from coming for---Embroidery sale, Linen and White Goods sale, Silk sale, Black Dress Goods sale, a sale of Men's, Women's and Children's Underwear and Hosiery, a Suit sale, a Waist sale, Undermuslins, and a half dozen more.

Every department in the house was called upon to do something very much out of the ordinary. And yesterday the sun was shining---indications were it would shine today---

But we are so glad to see it that we are going right ahead with our plans with no change. You'll find the details of one sale or another on nearly every page today.

If the sun shines, so much the better; if the weather plays us false again, we'll still have the satisfaction of knowing that every one who responds will be fully rewarded.

WANTS PAY FOR DUBLIN SQUALL.

Although Land Was Purchased

Ninety-eight Years Ago.

Dublin, Ga., April 23.-(Special).--Laurens county may celebrate her one hundredth anniversary and be called upon to defend her title to the square on which the courthouse is located at the same time. A Kansas lawyer has written to the chairman of the commissioners of roads and revenues asking for pay for the land which the county has been using for ninety-eight years. The land was purchased from David McCormack. The daughter of McCormack married a man named Jonathan Sawyer. The latter was one of the commissioners named by the legislature to make the purchase. Mrs.

Sawyer inherited McCormack's property and the Sawyers, several generations removed, are now asking for pay for land that their relative purchased for the county.

The demand for pay was accepted as a joke by Chairman Orr. He wrote the lawyer stating that the people of Laurens expected this year to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the creation of the county and the ninety-eighth anniversary of the purchase of the courthouse site, and asked him to see that all the Sawyers in his part of the country were duly invited to be present.

REWARD FOR DYNAMITERS.

Montgomery Mayor Asks Governor to Offer Reward.

Montgomery, Ala., April 23.--Mayor

Teague has called on Governor Comer to offer rewards for strike sympathizers who are alleged to be dynamiting cars at night, and the executive has agreed to do so. Citizens in a lengthy signed petition have called for a law and order league. If the officers do not at once stop the outrages, cars have been dynamited every night since Saturday.

INVESTIGATION OF IMMIGRATION.

Plan of Work Has Been Adopted by the Commission.

Washington, April 23.--The immigration commission was in session for three hours

today considering the details of the proposed investigation. It was practically decided that all of the nine members of the commission except Commissioner Gill and Professor Jenks should proceed to Europe for the purpose of prosecuting the inquiry there, and Messrs. Gill and Jenks should carry on the work in this country. The members of the commission who will go abroad will leave some time during the latter part of May, and they probably will begin their work in southern Italy, gradually proceeding northward into Poland, Russia and other European countries from which large numbers of immigrants come. They will give especial attention to the class of immigrants and also to the subject of inducing immigration.

The subjects which will receive special attention at home are the distribution of immigrants and their congestion in the large cities. Particular attention will be given to the latter subject, as it is generally felt that the concentration of the newly arrived foreigners in the principal centers of population is one of the greatest evils connected with the question of immigration.

RIVER BOAT SCENE OF KILLING.

silver-tongued orator, will deliver the oration, and the Spalding Grays, under Depot and Two Cars Burned.

Elberton, Ga., April 23.-(Special).--

Early Sunday morning the depot and two loaded freight cars of the Seaboard were destroyed by fire at Middleton. It is supposed to have been caused by burglars to hide their crime.

BODY IS SENT TO SAVANNAHFuneral Services of Steve Postell Will Take Place
There.

The body of Steve W. Postell, Atlanta's veteran journalist, was sent to Savannah last night at 9:15 o'clock over the Central railway, where the formal funeral services and interment will take place probably today.

Accompanying the casket was Mrs. Postell. She was joined at Macon by Captain John C. Postell, of Savannah, a brother of the widely-known Atlanta. Many telegrams and messages from various points in the state were sent to the home yesterday, each expressing profound regrets and extending a word of praise for the dead newspaper man. Strikingly prominent among these were those from the Macon Telegraph and from Henry McIntosh, of the Albany Herald. The Telegraph sent its night editor, Mr. Hollifield, to Atlanta with a floral offering, while Henry McIntosh's offering was a eulogy on Steve Postell. Early in the morning, Dudley Glass, city editor of The Georgian, and president of the Atlanta Press Club, named a committee of escort for the body from the residence to the terminal, and through another committee sent to the home a beautiful floral offering. The design was a pillow of rest in purple flowers with "30" in white in plain view. A pencil, without a rubber, the lead broken from the point, which had been shortened, rested near the "30."

Before the body left the home for the terminal station, brief services were held at the home, in which the newspaper men of Atlanta and many of Mr. Postell's friends in other cities participated. The Rev. Dr. Holderby, of Moore's Memorial church, read from the scriptures and was followed by Rev. Sam W. Small, who delivered a brief address upon the life of the dead journalist.

The pallbearers from the home were: Fred Lewis, of The Constitution; Walter Taylor, of The Journal; John C. Reese, of The Georgian; James Hollifield, of the Macon Telegraph; Frank Myers, from the Confederate Veterans; Harry Long, a cousin of Mrs. Postell and Walter R. Brown, R. C. Boesche, Smith Clayton, Walter Barthold and E. C. Bruffey.

TO GATE CITY

FROM OCONEE TO ATLANTA

Canal May Be Constructed if Investigations of Colonel Goodgear Show It Feasible—Does Not Think It a Difficult Engineering Problem.

Dublin, Ga., April 23.—(Special).—Colonel C. P. Goodgear, of Brunswick, is considering quite a startling proposition. The scheme is nothing more or less than digging a canal to Atlanta from some convenient point on the Oconee river and making it possible to run boats to that city. Colonel Goodgear, who has figured and is figuring on the project, states that he has not discovered that there will be any very difficult engineering problems to overcome, and that it looks feasible to him. He is a man who has had experience and great success in deepening channels and improving waterways. It is his idea to canalize the Oconee as far as it reaches, and then dig into Atlanta. Of course, locks will be put at convenient points on the river. This will make it possible to run much larger boats on the Oconee than at present, and will make the Oconee as easily and as safely navigable as the Savannah or the Chattahoochee. Colonel Goodgear is now gathering data in regard to the Oconee, and it may be that he will commence active work soon in endeavoring to carry out his idea. It will cost a great sum of money, of course, to dig the canal to Atlanta, but it will be worth to Atlanta all that it cost.

FRONT SEATS AT GALLOWSPromised Jurors If They Would Convict—Convicted Man Appeals.

Washington, D. C., April 23.—The supreme court of the United States today heard argument in the case of William Spangh, Jr., on appeal from a decision of the supreme court of Missouri, affirming the verdict finding Spangh guilty of murder in the first degree for the killing of John W. Polk, in 1905, when Polk was sheriff of Iron county. Among the errors alleged by Spangh is that during the trial, the acting sheriff of the county threatened to resign if Spangh should be acquitted, but promised that if he should be found guilty to give each of the jurors a front seat at the hanging. It was also charged that the deputy sheriff of the county gave whisky to the members of the jury.

IN ASHBURN JAILThought to Be Murderer of George W. May.

MANY IDENTIFY THE NEGRO

Tifton Officers Capture Negro, Who Is Identified by Sons of George W. May As Man Who Is Suspected of Killing Their Father.

Tifton, Ga., April 23.—(Special).—A negro identified as Will Ford, who is suspected of the assassination of George W. May, near Ashburn, was arrested by officers Rhodes, and Thrasher, near Tifton yesterday, after a lively chase.

The negro first attracted attention when another negro named John Harris approached him Saturday night at Phillipsburg and spoke to him in a friendly way. Harris looked almost white, and the negro evidently thought him a white man. As soon as spoken to, he pulled his gun and began shooting at Harris, who made a clean getaway, until he could return with a shotgun.

Story of the Killing.
Hearing of this escapade, the officers found they had a warrant against the negro, who gave an alias of John Woods, and yesterday morning they went to arrest him. When he saw the officers coming, Woods, or Ford, ran and the officers chased him for 3 miles through the woods, finally running him to cover in some bushes.

Before taking refuge in the bushes, the negro fired several times at the pursuing officers, but luckily did not hit them. He had several times told other negroes that no white man could arrest him, and that he would kill the first that approached him; but the long chase and determination of the officers evidently took his nerve, for when they walked upon him in the bushes he surrendered without resistance.

The officers brought their prisoner to Tifton and he was lodged in jail here and the authorities of Turner county notified. Sheriff Cason, with two sons of Mr. May and other parties who knew the negro, pronounced him to be the right man as soon as they looked at him, and he was carried to Ashburn today.

Run to Cover in Bushes.
Mr. May was one of the oldest and best known citizens of Turner county, and a very wealthy man. He was assassinated a short distance from his house on the night of March 5, being struck on the head with an ax, and his body lay in the woods all night, until it was discovered the next morning. Ford was a discharged employee, and suspicion fell on him at once, especially as he disappeared the night of the killing. He appears to be a desperate negro, and carries a gun about a foot and a half long, and is also thought to have killed a negro woman near Ocella, in Irwin county, a few days before Mr. May was assassinated.

If he is convicted, the pick-up will be a good one for the Tifton officers, as the governor has offered a reward of $150, the authorities of Turner county another $150, and Mr. May's family $250, making a total of $550 for the arrest with proof to convict. The $250 offered by the family was paid today when the prisoner was turned over.

to Mr. Baker on the first article in the April number follow

"Clear, Strong, True"

I have read with much interest your Atlanta riot story. It is clear, strong and true.—A Columbia, S. C., Editor.

"Fairness Breathes Through Every Word"Will you accept a line of deepest gratitude for the spirit of fairness which breathes through every word of your article in the April American Magazine?
—A Washington, D. C., Woman."Full of Extraordinary Interest"

In common with thousands of thoughtful Southern men, I have awaited the publication of your first article of a series "Following the Color Line." I have read it with extraordinary interest, and I am moved to express to you my sincere gratification for the spirit of fairness which pervades every line of it.—A Georgian.

"Has Elicited Favorable Talk"

The appearance of the first installment of your serial treatment of the Atlanta riot has elicited much interest here, and I have already heard considerable talk about it—all favorable.—An Atlanta Citizen.

"Wide Reading Predicted"

I predict a wide reading of your articles on the Race Question. I am a Georgian, and the article in the April issue made my heart beat quickly and hang in my throat—it was wonderfully true and strong.—A Georgian.

"Accurate Presentation of Facts"

From his first article, in the current AMERICAN MAGAZINE, dealing with race conditions in the South, it is evident that Ray Stannard Baker is not only going to add something of value to the literature upon this subject, but that he is also going to present some facts which must figure in any efforts that may be made to bring about improvement in the relations existing between the races.

Mr. Baker's article is neither editorial nor advisory in its nature; it is an interesting, and admirable and generally speaking, an accurate presentation of facts—facts, some of which may have an unpleasant ring in the ears of the people of the South, but, nevertheless, facts.

As a student of the situation Mr. Baker is honestly trying to get at the truth. This, we believe, he has done in his article on the Atlanta riot.—Atlanta Constitution.

STATE FAIRLocal Committee Must Raise $4,000 More by May 1.

The Georgia Agricultural Society stated at a meeting yesterday, with the local fair committee, that unless the whole of the $15,000 was raised the state fair would not be held in Atlanta this year.

The local committee made a report, in which it was stated that $11,000 of the $15,000 had been subscribed, and the balance of $4,000 was in sight.

There were present from the agricultural society: J. J. Conner, of Cartersville, president; R. F. Crittenden, of Shelburne; Martin Calvin, of experiment station; J. Clayton Clements, of Towns; George Gilmore, of Warthen; C. H. Ramsey, of Quitman; A. T. Dallas, of LaGrange; S. C. Dunlap, of Gainesville; Mr. Williamson, of Commerce. Of the local committee there were present: Frank Weldon, Alex. Smith, Lee Barnes and H. H. Cabaniss.

Mr. Weldon says that unless the merchants and other business men subscribe the $4,000 by May 1, the state fair will go elsewhere. The matter will have to be definitely decided one way or the other by the last day of this month.

The local committee will commence canvassing tomorrow afternoon, and it is believed that the money needed will be raised.

Manistee, Mich., April 23.—The wooden lumber barge Arcadia, which left this port April 12 for Two Rivers with a cargo of hardwood, has undoubtedly been lost in Lake Michigan with her captain and owner, Harry May, and about thirteen other men. Marine men here have given her up as lost and would not be surprised to hear that her wreck was caused by a boiler explosion. Some hold the theory that she went down because of the big storm of April 14. The known list of persons aboard the Arcadia was:

Captain Harry May, Mrs. Harry May; young woman cook, name unknown here; Otto Chavalla, sailor; Manistee; Harry Powers, sailor; Manistee. There were about eight more members of the crew.

The boat has not been heard from definitely since leaving Manistee. Wreckage has been found along the beach from Pentwater north to Little Point Sauble bearing the name of the missing boat. Portions of her cabins and bulwarks have also been found on the beach near Pentwater.

Fitzgerald, Ga., April 23.—(Special).—Miss Lizzie Floyd, a saleslady in the Empire Mercantile Company, while on her way home about 7 o'clock last night, was attacked by a negro. It was raining and the young lady carried an umbrella and as she passed a negro in crooked coat and hat, she was seized by the throat and struck a blow on the back of the head. As she fell to the ground she broke away from the negro and screamed, he made a second attack but was frightened by her screams and ran. The lady went to a store nearby and told her story and showed the finger prints on her throat. The alarm was given but nothing could be found of the assailant.

Macon, Ga., April 23.—(Special).—The second musical festival undertaken at Wesleyan College began this evening with a presentation of Mendelssohn's cantata, "Athalia," the parts of which were rendered by a very large number of artists. There were many people to witness the first evening and there are indications that the affair will prove a brilliant one.

The attractions for tomorrow afternoon and evening are carefully planned and the authorities are much pleased with the prospects of winning the most favorable comment. The festival will close tomorrow evening.

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT OF SOUTHERN SUSPENDER WORKS

Here in Atlanta, Georgia, there is a Suspender factory which is known in every state in our Union, and over six thousand customers who have been regular buyers for years know them to make the best Suspenders on the market—known as the "WARREN BRAND." There are a great many merchants who may not know that this same factory is now also making the largest line of Gents' NECKWEAR in the South—"WARREN BRAND." The immense facilities for specializing afforded by the organization of the SOUTHERN SUSPENDER WORKS are without equal, their salesmen going, as they do, direct from their factory to the merchant.

The above cut by our artist shows one section of their spacious mail order department. Their unique way of sending assortments with the privilege of returning at their expense any part that is not satisfactory has become very popular with the merchant. Any information will be furnished by Mr. G. W. Seay, president of the Southern Suspender Works, 58-60 West Mitchell Street, Atlanta, Ga.

Winthrop Sworn In. Washington, April 23.—Former Governor Beckman Winthrop, of Porto Rico, who returned to the United States with Secretary Taft, called on the president today and gave a brief account of his stewardship. Late this afternoon Mr. Winthrop took the oath of office as assistant secretary of the treasury.

Great Lumber Fire at Seattle. Seattle, Wash., April 23.—Fire which started last night in the planer room of the Port Blakely Lumber Company's mill at Port Blakely destroyed the entire plant, the largest lumber manufacturing establishment on the coast and one of the largest in the world, entailing a loss of between $300,000 and $500,000. Of this, 70 per cent is covered by insurance.

Heinrich Courtied Very Ill. New York, April 23.—Advises from Berlin received here today state that Heinrich Conried, manager of the Metropolitan opera house, is seriously ill at the Hotel Kaiserhof. He is suffering from spinal trouble, it is said, and cannot move without assistance. Mr. Conried, who has been ill for several months, departed for Europe a week ago last Tuesday.

War on Concealed Weapons. New York, April 23.—The intention of the courts of this city to impose severe penalties on offenders convicted of carrying concealed dirks, stilettos and slungshots was demonstrated today when two Italians were sentenced by Judge O'Sullivan to one year and another to three and a half years in the state prison.

THE THEATERS

At the Bijou.
The merriest, jolliest, jingling, musical comedy Atlanta has been treated to for some time is at the Bijou this week under the title "Around the Clock." The name will do about as well to fit what is done as any other name.
There are three acts, introducing thirty people of more or less prominence, among whom is a chorus group that makes up about three-fifths of the merry part of the entertaining. There is handsome scenery, clothes that cost a lot of thought in designing and a lot of money in producing, and there is some music that is worth hearing more than once or twice.

The Little Duches.
Those who saw "The Little Duches" on its three former appearances in Atlanta need little reintroduction to its merits, apropos of its return for a week's engagement starting next Monday at the Bijou theater. Anna Held presented it here first several years ago, and later Countess Olga von Hatzfeldt was seen in the same role, on two different occasions, with the same lavish production.

At the Eldorado.
Mary Manning, the charming and capable young actress who will appear at the Eldorado Friday, April 26, has, it is said, in her new vehicle, "Glorious Betsy," the best play of the year. The author of the new play is none other than Rida Johnson Young, who wrote "Brown of Harvard."

Miss Manning, who is well-known to the stage, began her career when but 15 years of age. It was one of the peculiar things, we hear about that played the decisive part in her earlier career. Some friends happened to see the young girl's picture at an exhibition in London. They were charmed by the beauty and expressiveness of the face. The original, then but 15 years old, was living quietly with her friends, and her picture was on view only because an artist had admired her beauty, and obtained permission to transfer it to canvas. These friends, one of whom was Kyrle Bellew, induced her to go upon the stage.

At the Grand.
The Parland-Newhall Company, which comes to the Grand this evening, April 24, as the last number of this season's series of entertainments given by the Atlanta Lecture Association, is a great company, with a great record. They traveled through thirty-eight states during the season of 1905-1906, covering a season of thirty-five weeks and gave universal satisfaction everywhere. It is probably the most versatile combination now before the American Lyceum public. Their program pleases immensely, and their work has elicited praise of the most pronounced character from lyceumites and committees wherever they have played.

Pastime Palace Theater.
The pretty weather of Tuesday afternoon and Tuesday evening made it possible for a large number of ladies and children to attend the afternoon and night performances at the Pastime Palace theater on Peachtree street. The clever vaudeville bill inaugurated at this little playhouse Monday afternoon has made one of the big hits of the week. The program is varied, the performance clean and wholesome and the artists clever. Miss Lee White in illustrated songs; Professor Randa and his dogs and Roy Mitchell, the child cornetist, are the hits of the week. Continuous performances from 1:30 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 10 p. m.

Amuse U Theater.
At the Amuse U theater on the Viaduct place, which has lately been named the "War Path," a decidedly novel program has been arranged for Wednesday and Thursday. This bill includes scenes from the famous dancing acts of the Barrison Sisters, the New York Casino favorites; the Troubadours, a Spanish conception follows and the bill is concluded by a thrilling detective play entitled "Sherlock Holmes." The films are being shown for the first time in Atlanta.

The Twin Theater.
Manager Robins is making a great hit with his vaudeville act, "The Great Illusion," which is being given daily in connection with his moving picture show in the north side theater of the Twin theater on Whitehall street. This performance is given on a raised stage in front of the picture curtain. A Noah's ark is made to yield a whole barnyard stock of fowls. This trick was introduced in this country by Hermann. The picture program includes "The Servants' Strike" and "The Paper Factory." In the south side theater the bill for these two days will be "In Pursuit of the Sausage" and its great companion piece, "The Dog Catchers."

St. Nicholas Auditorium.
Bad weather acts as no deterrent to those in love with that athletic pastime of roller skating. The large skating rink in the St. Nicholas auditorium at Ponce de Leon park has been the mecca for hundreds of enthusiasts during the past two days and with the advent of bright sunny days this number will be greatly augmented. To the stirring strains of martial music the skaters circle and recircle this large rink, breathing pure air of the woods nearby, and are making their bodies stronger and their heart action better for the exercise. Miller's military band is furnishing the music for each of the matinee sessions on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons and on each night during the week. So great was the success of the last skating carnival that Manager Roberts is already arranging another to take place on the night Ponce de Leon opens. The details will be announced later.

Roman Catholic Would Censor Plays.
Montreal, Quebec, April 23.--At the meeting of the city council Monday afternoon a letter was received from Archbishop Bruchet, of the Roman Catholic diocese of Montreal, suggesting that a censorship be established to examine all plays to be produced in the local theaters. Two of the local French theaters recently agreed to submit all plays to the archbishop, and he now desires that the censorship be extended to the English theaters.

ALL BREWERS TO BE OUSTED RAILWAY SERVICE MENACED

Supreme Court Has Given Necessary Order and Receivers Will Be Named for All Brewing Companies Doing Business in the State.

Topeka, Kans., April 23.—Attorney General Jackson, by securing an injunction against nine foreign brewing companies to prevent their owning property and operating saloons and in obtaining an order for the appointment of receivers for the brewers' property, has taken the most effective measure ever invoked to enforce the prohibitory law in Kansas. He intends to push his crusade to an active conclusion, and today in an interview said: "When the receiver is named he will proceed to locate and take under control all property of the defendants found in the state, and will thus be able to state every place where the defendants are in any way carrying on business in Kansas. Any attempt to conceal the sale of liquors will place the defendants under all their participating agents any place in the state in contempt of the supreme court. The property will be sold and out of the proceeds the court will pay all costs and damages due the state. If it is necessary to send the militia to enforce the order, the defendants will pay the bill. It will not be necessary to do this, however. The brewers' property in Kansas consists of warehouses and saloon fixtures valued at many thousands of dollars."

Are to Be Driven Out.
Kansas City, Kans., April 23.—Representatives of foreign liquor concerns who solicit business in Kansas are to be driven from the state on the strength of the recent decision of the United States supreme court, which held to be constitutional the law making it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment, to solicit orders for intoxicating liquors within the state. "Kansas is determined," said C. W. Trickett, assistant attorney general, appointed by Governor Hoot to close the saloons in Kansas City, in an interview here today, to enforce the laws upon its books and to demonstrate to the country that it is a sovereign state in fact as well as in name. Treason and nullification will not be permitted within its borders."

Memphis, Tenn., April 23.—Hon. Judson Clements, of the interstate commerce commission, arrived here today and will hear complaints in regard to freight rates and transportation. Today's hearing is taken up with the complaint of the Memphis freight bureau regarding the rates on cotton seed from Fort Worth, Ark., and western points on the Fort Smith and Western railroad.

Tomorrow the commissioner will hear a complaint relating to the rates on coal and oil in the Memphis territory, and also the action brought by E. S. Bondheimer & Co., wholesale lumber dealers, against the Illinois Central and other railroads relative to the alleged discrimination in consignments of lumber at Memphis and Cairo, Ill.

New Orleans, April 23.—The cases of Alfred H. and David Morris, of New York, who were recently indicted by the United States grand jury at Mobile, Ala., for violation of the anti-lottery law, were continued when they came up before the United States commissioner today and will be heard tomorrow.

By the Proposed Reduction in the Passenger Rate, Says President of Southern—Reduction
Would Be of Little Benefit to the Average Individual.

Memphis, Tenn., April 23.—Speaking at a public reception given at the Merchants' exchange this afternoon, W. V. Finley, president of the Southern railroad, said in part:

"The railroads of the south, realizing that they could only develop and prosper as a consequence of the development and prosperity of southern communities, have uniformly cooperated with the people along their lines for the material advancement of this entire section. They are ready and anxious to continue this cooperation and to increase their facilities so as to be able to meet increased demands. All that they ask of the southern people is that no unnecessary obstacles shall be placed in their way and that they be supported by the same hearty public spirit that welcomes and supports every other business enterprise that tends to build up this section. In some of the states—particularly in Tennessee and South Carolina—the majority of the people and of the legislators have shown that they are unwilling to retard railway and industrial development. In some of the other states, however, legislative programs have been embarked upon that, if persisted in, will place serious obstacles in the path of railway progress and will make difficult the task of providing additional railway facilities upon which the continued progress of those states must depend. Unfortunately, the evil effects of such policies cannot be confined wholly to the states in which they are put in force. As they tend to injure the credit and borrowing power of the entire system, there is danger that they may injure the people of other states as well."

Reduction of Passenger Fares.

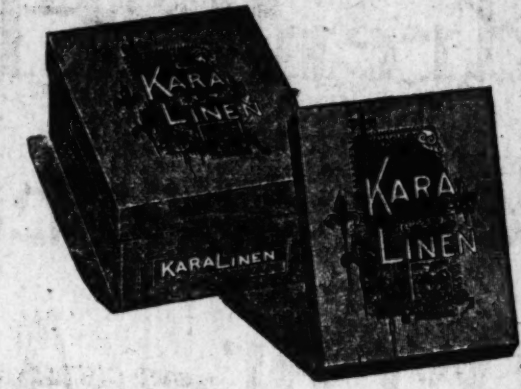

"An illustration of legislation that, in its ultimate effects, is injurious to the railroads and the public, is the arbitrary reduction of passenger fares without regard to whether the passenger traffic conditions on the roads affected are such as to warrant such reductions. Other things being equal, in a region where passenger traffic is dense and where well-filled trains can be counted on, passenger fares may be carried at rates that would be ruinously low in a region with light passenger traffic. Density of passenger traffic depends almost entirely on two factors—density of population and a large percentage of urban population. In none of the southern states is the density of population sufficient to afford a foundation for a heavy passenger traffic, and reductions of passenger fares in this section would so impair the revenues of the railroads as to make impossible the better and safer passenger service which is more important to the traveling public than any possible reduction in passenger rates. In Tennessee the average population per square mile is 50 and in Mississippi it is but 35. In Massachusetts this average is 370, in New York it is 160, in Pennsylvania it is 147, and in Ohio it is 103. In proportion to population, a much larger percentage of the passenger traffic of the country is drawn from cities than from the rural communities. This is due in part to the large amount of suburban travel in the neighborhood of every large city, and in part to the fact that city circles are required to travel more on business and are inclined to travel more for pleasure than are the people living in the country. The census office classes as urban the population of the cities of 5,000 and over. In 1900 the urban population of Massachusetts was 78 per cent of the total; of New York, 68.5 per cent; of Pennsylvania, 45.5 per cent, and of Ohio, 38.5 per cent. In that year the urban population of Tennessee was only 13.4 per cent of the total, and that of Mississippi was but 2.6 per cent of the total."

Small Urban Population.

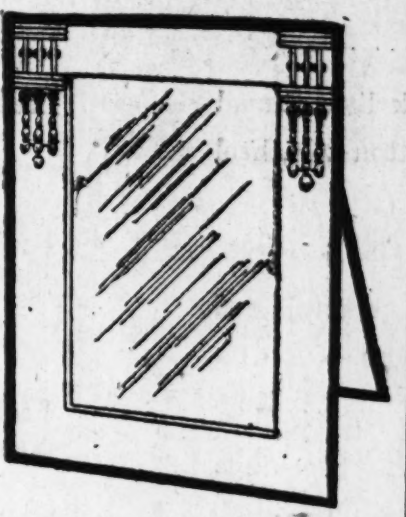

"In the whole section south of the Potomac and Ohio rivers and east of the Mississippi only 8.1 per cent of the total population in 1900 was urban. These figures show, with the small population per square mile and the very small proportion of urban population in this section of the country, it would be impossible to develop a volume of passenger traffic that would warrant a reduction of fares to a level that might be fairly remunerative in states like Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania or Ohio, with their great average density of population, with their heavy suburban traffic, and with their regular heavy travel between large cities. Much of the passenger business on any railway system must be carried on without regard to whether it is immediately profitable or not. This is especially true in sections like the south, where the population is not dense, and in such sections the proportion of unprofitable trains is much greater than where the population is more dense. The reason for this is that, up to a certain point, the needs of every community for mail transportation and for necessary travel, require a certain minimum number of trains per day. These trains must be run regularly with sufficient car capacity to accommodate the maximum number of people who may be expected to travel on any day, though they may not be filled to a fourth of their capacity more than once or twice in a month."

Little Benefit to Individual.

"Any possible reduction in passenger fares in the south would benefit the average individual very little. In the aggregate, however, reduced fares would very seriously affect railway income and would certainly tend to impair the power of the roads to supply improved passenger service. If carried far, it might even make impossible the maintenance of the present standard of service. Natural as it is that all passengers should desire to travel as cheaply as possible, I think you will agree with me that there can be no question that improved and safer passenger service is

23 Whitehall St.A CONTEST IN WHICH CHARITY GETS A LEMONONE THOUSAND DOLLARS of Uncle Sam's good money is up in the air, while sweet charity awaits the outcome of a lively squabble which is now going on between the two rival afternoon papers of Atlanta.
It is all about circulation. A challenge was made and accepted and it looked for a while as if sweet Charity was about to have $1,000 dumped into her ready lap.
But there was a hitch and the money is now up in the atmosphere while the squabble goes on.
Some time ago The Georgian issued a deft and announced that it had some 30,000 paid subscribers which was a sight more than any other afternoon paper published in Atlanta could show; that there wasn't a newspaper published in the neck of the woods which had as many as 40,000 paid subscribers.
The Georgian said that if it didn't have more than any other newspaper in the way of paid subscribers it would give $1,000 to sweet Charity.
The Home for Old Women, the Hospital for Incurables, the Home for the Friendless, the Sheltering Arms, and all the orphan asylums heard and looked on aghast and hopefully.
The Journal, that dews the land like a cover, heard and picked up the glove.
The Georgian announced that the matter would be left to the following committee: Rabbi David Marx, Forrest
Adair and Mayor W. R. Joyner.
The Georgian demanded that certain persons must make the investigations.
Time went by and then The Journal came out under flaming headlines and stated that its circulation had been examined by the "acid test," that it had more than the requisite 40,000, and therefore more than The Georgian.
No names were mentioned but this was what was meant.
The special committee got busy and sweet Charity waked up again.
Now The Georgian says that it never provided for any acid test and that The Journal has not complied with the requirements in that it had its circulation examined by its own experts whom it employed and paid.
Each side will probably say the other backed out, is crawling, wiggling and dodging.
It seems to be a great pity, for Charity is about to get a lemon which will be another "acid test."

Sale of Muslin Underwear

This Morning, 8:30 O'Clock, Second Floor, Front

And they're the "run of the stock"; the "Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose underwear stock"--not the "run of the mill" that so often goes into muslin underwear sales. And, at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose the "run of the stock" means that this lot is made up of the highest type of lingerie. Fine materials, fine embroideries and laces, careful, painstaking sewing of seams and working of buttonholes, dainty ribbons interwoven, tucks evenly laid--but we hardly need to tell you of Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose underwear. A glance at the prices will show you the sort of underwear is included and the garments.

We've gone through and taken for this sale from every grade garments that have become at all rumpled or soiled from being shown, or where selling has reduced a pattern down to a few.

EVANGELIST MARTIN MEETING SUCCESS

The great meeting of days now in progress at the Capitol Avenue Baptist church, which began at the church last Wednesday night, increases daily in interest. Despite the lowering clouds and the steady downpour of rain on Monday, large crowds braved the elements and came out in numbers to hear Evangelist T. T. Martin preach at both afternoon and evening services.

Last Sunday in many respects, marks perhaps one of the greatest days in the history of the Capitol Avenue church. Mr. Martin preached morning, afternoon and also the action brought by E. Soudmost responsive audiences ever gathered in this section of the city.

Mr. Martin will preach every day, both afternoon at 3:30 and evenings at 7:45 o'clock this week and next, to which services every one is cordially invited to attend.

"There's a Reason"

IN THE COURTS

At the courts will resume their sessions this morning for the trial of jury business, except Judge Pendleton, who will be engaged the balance of the week in hearing motions, the Butts county case, probably, being the most important matter to be considered.

The criminal superior court will take up jail cases this morning, there being 100 prisoners confined in the Tower awaiting trial, the greater portion of these being assaults to murder and burglaries.

Chief Turner, of the county police force, says that he has never known Fulton county quieter than at the present time, the criminal offenses being confined to the lesser infractions of the law.

Just when the case of M. M. Turner, charged with embezzlement, will come up, is not known, that being a bond case, which always follows the jail cases.

The one divorce complaint filed yesterday was that of Emma Pearl Riley against E. G. Riley, who were married July 3, 1902, and separated April 8, of this year, the wife leaving him because, she alleges, he threatened her life, and because of his cruel treatment.

Another application for an improvement company charter was filed, the incorporators being M. B. Torbett and W. B. Roberts, of Fulton, and Eugene Galland, of New York. The new company is to be known as the Southern Guarantee and Improvement Company, who will also engage in subdividing real estate. The capital stock is placed at $100,000, with the right to increase it to $250,000, the company also asking the privilege to issue both common and preferred stock.

The will of Captain William Flynn was filed for probate in the ordinary's office yesterday, the executors named in the will being Mrs. Agnes Peacock, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Lillie Jones, of Florida, both being daughters of the deceased.

Mrs. Peacock qualified yesterday as executrix, but Mrs. Jones will be required to give bond before she qualifies. The will declared that they should both serve without bond, but the Georgia law provides that a party living without the limits of Georgia must file a bond before they can qualify, notwithstanding the will may provide otherwise.

Captain Flynn died on April 16, leaving quite a valuable estate, which is to be kept intact for six months, the revenue for that time going entirely to his wife, Mrs. Ella Flynn, after which she is to have a life interest in two pieces of property on Chapel and Stonewall streets, this property to be divided equally between his three daughters at her death, the remaining property, after six months, to go to the daughters.

Alleging that an agent of the Swift & Co. packing house went into his meat market and carried therefrom with force and arms, without any legal papers or legal authority, over the protest of his clerk, a quantity of breakfast bacon, hams, beef, butter, boneless hams, Bologna sausage, pork butts, pork hams and one-half lamb, T. A. Willingham entered suit yesterday against the packing company for the recovery of the price of the meats, and $2,000 for punitive and exemplary damages, alleging that the trespass was accomplished by circumstances of aggravation, both in act and intention.

W. F. Colladay, the manager of the Swift Company, is joined in the suit, the alleged trespass occurring on April 3, last, in the plaintiff's meat market at 145 Venable street.

The office of Tax Receiver Armistead has been crowded the past two days with property owners who were eager to give in their returns and get this matter off their minds, and the clerical force in the office was kept constantly busy attending to the many callers.

The sooner these returns are made, the better it is both for the tax payer and the receiver. An unusual rush in the closing days is a source of great annoyance both to the giver-in and the receiver.

Deaths Follow Negro Row.
Sanderaville, Ga., April 23.--(Special).--Lee Smith shot and killed Alonzo May on the farm of Jasper Colson, in the southern part of the county. From all reports, a crowd of drunken negroes were together when Smith and May had some words, Smith drawing his pistol and firing with the above result.

Also in the western part of the county another row occurred at a negro church as a result of which Walter Sandford and Link Lane were killed and several negro men and women injured. A drunken negro shot his wife, though not fatally. This started the row and a general fusillade followed.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.
Atlanta 8, Montgomery 0.
Birmingham 3, Little Rock 0.
New Orleans 4, Little Rock 0.

Montgomery, Ala., April 23. (Special.)—Atlanta had an easy thing of it this afternoon, defeating Montgomery by the score of 8 to 0. Spade, the Atlanta pitcher, had everything his own way, winning the game by his own batting when the Crackers failed to come to his rescue in this respect.

Walker, the Senators' pitcher, was an easy mark for the Atlantics who batted him at will and as frequently as they chose. The big Montgomery savior, however, did some pretty convincing and at times pitched fairly cleverly.

Atlanta made her first score in the fifth inning, when Paskert reached the first base on an error of Perry's. Castro, who had been in the lead, hit to right field which would have succeeded in scoring Paskert had not the left fielder felt on his way home, resulting in his getting out. Winters, two batted to left, scoring Spade and fanning.

In the seventh innings Fox scored. Parker hit through second base, scoring it soon afterwards. Castro new out to center. Spade again coming to the rescue, two batted to center, scoring Paskert and Winters retired the side.

With one man down in the eighth O'Leary hit safe to center, Becker scored. Dyer got two bags on a hit through third. Fox hit safe, scoring O'Leary and Dyer. Paskert two batted, scoring Fox.

In the last innings Spade walked. Winters got first on error of Perry's. Hoffman sacrificed both, O'Leary two batted, scoring Spade and Winters, and soon after he Montgomery played dead after the sixth.

CRACKERS ARE HOME AGAIN.

AFTER what was intended to be an eight-game trip, but which incidentally was transformed into a five-battle affair, the Crackers are back at Piedmont again this afternoon with the Nashville team under the care of Johnny Dobbs. This team will be here for four games, after which it gives way to the Barons.

Two New Out Pickets Wanted by Climbers

Montgomery, Ala., April 23.—(Special.) The Montgomery Baseball Club is after two new outfielders, both of whom have great records in taking in the fly and hitting the ball, and lifting is the main thing just now with the local management. One of the men sought is named McCreslin, who is to be borrowed from the Altoona club of the Pennsylvania State League, and the other a Texas man drafted by Washington from Houston and sent back. He and McCreslin are both said to be able to land the ball when needed.

It is quite evident that the touted outfield of the local club is not measuring field and the management is getting out after some fillers. As an indication of the feeling just here it is noted that Connors, who has been out of the game for some days, and whom it was reported would be sold, took the place of Sam Apperius at center today. The management thinks he has not been doing as well as he should for some days.

Connors is said to have come down off the rather high horse he was riding a few days ago, and expresses willingness to do what the manager thinks is best for the team. He is regarded as one of the most promising men on the club, and the fans will be happy to hear that he is going to be given an opportunity to make good, as all believe he will.

Our new branch store, opened to the public February 14th, at 125 Peachtree street (Candler building), has proven a decided success. AMERICAN TIGERS WIN. The American Tigers defeated the Albany High school here Saturday by the score of 11 to 7. Only two hits were made by the high school team, and four of their heaviest hits were struck out. The Tigers have played nine games, won eight of them, and in the other played a draw game with the American first team.

TRACK TOO SLOW FOR FIELD MEET

Tech Field Day Has Been Postponed for One Week.

On account of the track having been made heavy by the recent rains, the Tech field day will not be held today according to schedule but will occur on May 3.

The management deemed it wise to postpone the occasion in order that the conditions may be the best that can be drawn for the track work. A large number of entries will go in and all of these will keep at work during the week, training for their events. Coach Glendon will go to work at once to fit the crew for a four-mile race, all of the other races having been on a two-mile course.

A trip will interfere very little with the academy routine as the members of the crew belong to the graduating class and will not go on the cruise while training.

Middies Joyous.

The positive announcement that the midshipmen of Annapolis will compete in the regatta at Poughkeepsie on June 26 has caused much joy at the naval academy. The consent of Secretary Metcalf was expected, but the earliness of its arrival brought with it surprise as well as pleasure.

Official orders from the navy department for the midshipmen to take the trip are looked for shortly and there will carry with them the statement that the expenses of transportation and maintenance will be borne by the government. Other necessary funds will be made up among the friends of the crew either in or of the navy. The midship crew is in much better condition than any previous one for this time of the season but the members are reticent about the outcome of the event and venture no statements as to their chances for victory. Coach Glendon will go to work at once to fit the crew for a four-mile race, all of the other races having been on a two-mile course.

What You Want and What You Get

Usually, when a man pays out his money for anything, he gets what he wants, or there's a good, strong kick for the man who sold him a disappointment.

Why isn't this true of cigar purchases? Why has the public been so long-suffering with cigar manufacturers? Why will a man pay out his good money for poor cigars?

It's hard to say. But it's easy enough to see how a great many manufacturers take advantage of this careless buying, and unload inferior cigars on unsuspecting purchasers. This flaming game can't last forever.

Smokers every day are waking up more and more to the fact that Cigars are now made better than ever they were.

Smokers can tell good cigars when they smoke them—and they are fast finding out that cigars in boxes stamped with the "Triangle A" are invariably of better quality than cigars which are not guaranteed in this way.

To Spring: "It's never too late to mend."

Looks like Bryan is educating the rest up to him.

The Railroad Trainmen pulled in on time and got busy right off.

The limelight dazzles so many. It's great to wear diamonds for a day.

The world's all right; only the chaps who want the world are grumbling.

"The farmer feedeth all." But if the trickiest season holds, dinner will be late.

The sunshine is just fooling you. Keep the saw in the log and the log on the fire.

Uncle Sam is after the packers. Now, if he could just give their prices a lick!

They're after the bachelor with a big stick, but the bachelor is content with his club.

Be thankful for the bleak weather; perhaps it helped you growl away a spell of spring fever.

No wonder King Edward was mistaken for a beggar in Naples. It's dangerous to go around tagged.

A London paper says Japan doesn't want the earth. No; she'll be satisfied with the watered stock of it.

The drought in Porto Rico followed recent political speeches there, which gave the people the dry grins.

So many big republicans running for the nomination, won't it be a surprise if a dark horse gets it in a walk-over?

They are going to try the molasses diet on the negroes of Louisiana. Never get rid of 'em now; they're bound to stick.

You'll feel a thrill of patriotism at Jamestown, to think that this will be your country—when they run the grafters out of it.

We rejoice to hear that the Cuban situation is "satisfactory." Now they can go on with the cock-fighting, and the best bird wins!

"I shall only make three speeches in Ohio," says Taft. Which is the same thing as saying Foraker is not a foe man worthy of his spiel.

The weather bureau still owes us eight inches of rain, but considering the ice left over from the spring blizzard we'll just call it square!

Dynamite is dear, and the revolutionists are lynching 'em in Russia now. Perhaps that's why the czar is opposed to giving them too much rope.

Missouri seems to be for the "unwritten law." Or perhaps Missouri is like the Billville justice who said: "Law is as I see it. I ain't got no time to look in books fer it, no how!"

Chief Justice Brewer told the New York lawyers to have "more conscience." Might be better for them to rub the rust off of what they have.

In Ohio you must take your hat off when the band plays "The Star-Spangled Banner." Same here when it strikes up "Dixie"—except that your hat flies off on its own hook, and you don't care whether you get it back or not.

HOW WATER STOPS PROGRESS.

Starting as is the railroad situation in Minnesota, where it has been ascertained that an actual value of $215,000,000 has been capitalized at $400,000,000, or an average of $50,000 a mile, upon which the public is taxed to pay approximately 10 per cent to the owners, it may be ventured that more than a parallel for it can be found here in the south, where not only have the people been called upon to pay watered dividends, but the development of the properties themselves has been hampered and held back to enrich the holders of this increased increment.

Investigation in Georgia and neighboring states, where careless laws or unchallenged violation have permitted overcapitalization, would unquestionably develop a similar state of affairs; and yet when rate revision is suggested or attempted, it at once brings forth the cry of confiscation. Confiscation of what? Why, of stock, income bonds and debentures, issued not upon a new or added value, but upon the increased earning power of a property that is allowed to become congested in order that these dividends may be paid.

In his annual report to the governor, extracts from which were recently published in The Constitution, Attorney General John C. Hart called attention to the existence in Georgia of just such a situation, and very appropriately recommended legislation which, in the future at least, will prevent overcapitalization of public service corporations.

There are at least five railroads entering Atlanta today which ought to be now completely double-tracked in order to enable them properly to handle the traffic demanded of them.

Of these the only one which has made any pretense at double-tracking is the Southern Railway main line between Atlanta and Washington, and this has only begun to operate on its second track for a few miles south of the latter city. Perhaps less than one-tenth of the entire distance is double-tracked. Every mile of the line should have been double-tracked long ago. It is folly to contend that this main line to Washington is capable of handling the traffic with which it has deal. The recent lengthening of through passenger schedules by more than two hours, after constant effort for years had brought them down to an admirable minimum, is a confession of congestion from which there is no escape.

Double tracks should be complete and in operation today on the Georgia railroad, the Atlanta and West Point and the Central of Georgia from Atlanta to Fort Valley. It is just as necessary on the Western and Atlantic, though such expenditure could hardly be expected of a lessee whose term has but a few years more to run. Here is a matter for the state to consider. The time is near at hand when it will likewise be found necessary on the Seaboard's main line; it will come long before the additional track could possibly be laid were the work to begin today.

There is not one of these roads but complains more or less of congested traffic. It is offered on every hand as the excuse for delay and, with regard to certain classes of traffic, for inactivity, notably in the case of the accumulated granite shipments at Lithonia.

Not a suggestion has there come of the double-tracking of any of these lines except the Southern; and yet they continue to pay dividends on watered stocks and distant income gratuity bonds, notably in the case of the Central of Georgia, with money which should have gone and should now go into this absolutely necessary improvement.

Every day will but continue to add to the need of increased facilities; every day's delay will but increase the inability of railroads to properly perform their duty to the public.

A WORD WITH "MR. DEMPSEY, OF NEW YORK."

In a communication on this page signed "J. C. Dempsey, of New York," there is summarized in characteristic manner the gambler's plea for liberty and the right to pursue, unmolested, his pernicious vocation. We are familiar with this plea; it is as time-honored and as gray in service as it is fallacious.

It has an interesting ring; it appeals to the lover of liberty unrestrained who is content to let the truth remain hidden beneath its false logic.

The professional gambler den is a curse to society, and as such Atlanta long ago declared that none of them would be tolerated here.

The gambler himself, who seeks protection in his assault upon the law, is the very first to invoke it against the thing who would deprive him of his ill-gotten gains at the pistol's point. Yet there is no difference between them; both are outlaws.

So much, briefly, for Mr. Dempsey's vanished theory. The day of its practice has long since passed in Atlanta, and we are glad to note also that Savannah, Birmingham, New Orleans and other southern cities are following in Atlanta's footsteps.

The professional gambler who seeks to put the Dempsey theory into practice in Atlanta will be given time, in stripes and ball and chain, to meditate upon the fallibility of human reasoning, when it comes to making law accord simply with desire.

That is, such will be his fate if Atlanta's police and Atlanta's courts will do their duty to the public!

YES, THERE IS A REMEDY!

Daily complaint does not cease to be made of the execrable mail service to which the people of Georgia are compelled to submit because the only practical remedy which would bring relief is not applied.

From South Georgia we give an example of this just protest against conditions which, in many sections, have grown equally intolerable:

Office of The Banner, Greenville, Ga., April 21, 1907.

Editor Constitution: For the past ten days we have experienced the worst mail service we have had for the past three years. If anything, it is worse than it was when we had no railroads at all. Our Savannah papers are always a day late, and so are The Constitution and The Macon Telegraph. This makes the second Sunday that we have failed to receive a daily paper at all. The citizens are hot. Is there no remedy?

C. T. MOXLEY, Manager.

Our correspondent is one among many who feel they can no longer tolerate a situation grown worse than burdensome, and asks, "Is there no remedy?"

Yes, there is a remedy and one by which the situation could be very effectively and satisfactorily dealt with.

If the United States postal authorities would stir themselves to activity in the matter, and in a few flagrant instances withhold from the railroads compensation for a service not rendered, or so badly rendered as to be almost worthless, we would soon have the gratifying innovation of a prompt mail service.

But as long as the postoffice department, which is supposed to look after the needs and interests of the people, continues, with supine indifference, to pay full price for an inadequate and a tardy service, we do not see that anything better can be expected.

Everything else has been tried without effect. The only remedy which has in it promise of accomplishment lies with those representatives of the people's government who either hesitate or refuse to apply it.

What is their excuse?

Husband Posted Rules—Wife Quit Job.

There was a man who attempted to run his domestic affairs on the same lines he employed in his business, but it didn't work. As a consequence he is now facing a suit for separation.

J. Edward Camp draws a good salary from a New York concern which employs him as manager. He has probably intimidated his employees to such an extent that they are afraid to "strike." But his wife was made of sterner stuff. She declines to order her day according to a set of printed rules posted up by the husband, and has filed notice of an intention to quit her job. All of which is subversive of discipline and calculated to strike the husband as irrational and absurd.

The party of the first part stopped speaking to his spouse six months after their marriage. His further communications and observations were made known to her in the shape of placards conspicuously posted about the house. The husband's code of laws covered everything from the disposition of his "ten ballet girls" pictures to the color of the bed spread. The wife rebelled. What wife wouldn't? She had formerly been the mistress of a profitable and successful boarding house on Seventh avenue, in the great metropolis, and had been accustomed to posting rules herself. The final printed injunction of her loving spouse, "Your duty is to obey orders," was too much. She intends to take her two children by her first husband, who, by the way, she divorced, and go out into the hard cruel world to earn her own living again.

The husband has not answered the suit. He may say "peace go with you." If he is the brute he is painted, he will probably write the inscription across his code, "Peace remains behind you."

Michael Haverly.

In the death of Michael Haverly Atlanta loses a citizen who may well be classed as one of the constructive sort—a citizen whose work and pleasure it has been to assist in and contribute to the growth and prosperity of his home city. The passing of such men thus becomes more than a personal loss of family and friends, for it is, at the same time, a deprivation to the community.

Mr. Haverly had lived a long and useful life of 71 years, more than half a century of which was spent not only in watching, but in assisting, Atlanta to grow. He brought to the country of his adoption those traits of steadfastness and tenacity of purpose which have made the Irish famous. He was a devoted husband and father, a faithful friend, a genial companion and a man the sunshine of whose charity blessed many lives.

Mr. Haverly's Aspirations.

The announcement that the element in the democratic party which is pleased to call itself the "conservative" wing, or sometimes the "safe and sane" aggregation, is backing Judson Harmon, of Ohio, for the democratic republican nomination will hardly provoke a ripple of interest on the political waters.

The prediction is so firmly established that William J. Bryan will lead the democratic hosts next time, that any movement to foist any "favorite sons" upon the convention can only be looked upon as a harmless compliment to the recipient of his state's electoral vote.

The country has been treated to a darkly hinted rumor that the "Interests which would like to see a more conservative man in the presidential chair and one whose views of reform differ radically from those of Mr. Bryan—some of which Mr. Roosevelt has put in operation—would prefer to see Fairbanks or Foraker or even a democrat like Harmon in the white house, rather than face a continuation of the Roosevelt regime." Such a conclusion, so far as it affects Mr. Harmon, is rather unjust. His activity while holding the office of attorney general under President Roosevelt's second administration did credit to such an insinuation. Quite recently, by his activity in connection with the discovery of rebating evils, as practiced by Secretary Paul Morton, member of the Roosevelt cabinet, he further won the plaudits and approval of the public.

But with all due regard to the gentleman's capacity, ability and integrity, there will be but one name to suggest the enthusiasm of the "peace congress" which gathers to name the next democratic nominee, and that will be the name of Bryan.

The Bryan sentiment is enthusiastically sweeping the country, despite the views of the "safe and sane" democrats and the self-styled conservatives.

Meanwhile the republicans are beginning to realize that the candidacy of J. Taft, or Foraker, or Cannon, or Root, or Beveridge, will encounter plenty of pitfalls.

Letters from the People.

"Mr. Dempsey, of New York," on Gambling.

Editor Constitution: You have a lot to say about the "gamblers" being in your city. Do your citizens need any guardians? Do they know what they want or do they have to be told how to spend their money? We expect to run some games here in the future as we have in the past. Such laws are a dead letter. You ought to encourage people to come here and spend their money here. Give them a town where they can give their people a chance to enjoy life. The professional gambler never scoops to dishonest tricks. It is true the percentage is in his favor just as the profit is in favor of your merchant who manipulates his survival.

If Atlanta will protect her sporting men then she will have games run on a legitimate percentage basis; otherwise you will subject your citizens to disgraceful gamblers' dens. Give your citizens the best there is in everything—carns, horses and women. Be a live, up-to-date, metropolitan city. The day of telling intelligent people how to live is over.

DEATH OF MRS. DARBY.

Funeral Services Will Be Held at the H. M. Patterson Chapel.

Mrs. Mary M. Darby, affectionately known as the Old Woman's Home, 19 East Mitchell street, as "Grandma" Darby, died at noon yesterday after a sickness lasting a week or more.

"Grandma" Darby was the oldest inmate of the home, being in the 96th year of her age. At the time she was admitted to the home, some eighteen months ago, the old lady was hale and hearty, despite the fact that she was a nonagenarian, and her health continued good until a few days ago, when she was stricken with illness. Even on her bed of suffering the brave spirit was superior to the ills of the flesh, and the old lady kept a smiling countenance, cheering those about her as had been her custom since entering the home.

Already an application has been made for Grandma Darby's place and roller chair at the home, so crowded in its condition, and so numerous are the applicants for shelter there. The moment death involves the ranks the oldest and most goodly applicant is given the place left vacant, but the ladies of the Garden Circle of King's Daughters hope to remedy this condition by raising funds and purchasing a more commodious home.

The funeral services of Mrs. Darby will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Every one interested in the Old Woman's Home is invited to attend.

GRAVES GIVES IT UP.

Says People Won't Consider Ideals in Materialistic Age.

(From The Chicago Tribune.)

John Temple Graves spent the day with members of the Iroquois Club, whose guest he was Saturday night, and left the city at 8:20 over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway. He said he had not concerned himself with the local democratic situation, though he made it apparent that he is not in accord with the radical wing of the party lately known as the Dunneocracy.

"I am happy to congratulate Chicago upon the magnificent victory for municipal ownership achieved at the recent city election," said Mr. Graves in that solemn manner of his that makes his democratic brethren wonder whether he really has a sense of humor. "Chicago has taken a long step ahead in the movement for the municipal ownership and operation of public utilities. I was exceedingly gratified by the result of the election."

"Then you don't agree with ex-Mayor Dunne that the election was a setback for M. O.?" was a question ventured.

"Most certainly I do not," replied Mr. Graves. "Mayor Dunne went too far—he was too extreme—he wanted too much all at once. It was better policy to get as much as possible at the time before going farther."

Has More to Explain.

The editor was found in his room at the Auditorium Annex packing his traveling bags and reading the reports of the discussion he had precipitated in the Iroquois Club dinner. The oratorical fire still smoldered in his eye, and he admitted he hadn't said all he had on his mind.

"I asked for five minutes in which to explain my position after the speech of Congressman Clark," said Mr. Graves, "but I suppose the request did not reach the committee in time. I desired the opportunity not for the purpose of assailing Champ Clark, but of explaining myself more fully."

"Well, for my part, I am done with the suggestion I have made. The next time I am in Chicago I shall be more orthodox. I fully expected that the proposal I made would be unpopular with the politicians, office holders, and other public men and with the newspapers. They are interested in preserving the present parties for private and selfish reasons. But the class for whom the appeal was made will sustain it. I mean the people. I have received hundreds of letters from all sections of this country expressing approval of the idea."

Idea Expresses An Ideal.

Mr. Graves cast aside the newspaper and walked into the bow window, where he continued meditatively.

The suggestion that Bryan should nominate Roosevelt or Roosevelt Bryan was the expression of an ideal in a materialistic age. But it can have done no harm to present it. My idea is that parties should be given a rest for a single season. The country is tired of parties and the people would thank God for a new deal.

"The time has come, in my opinion, for the formation of two new parties from the wrecks of the old. We are interested in definite issues and the men who stand for them. What we want is railroad regulation and the punishment of robber corporations. Roosevelt has accomplished definite results in both of these fields. I am sure, as I have said, that Bryan should prefer the definite Roosevelt to that Parker who was acceptable to the trusts just as Roosevelt would prefer the definite Bryan to that Foraker who is the open champion of the trusts."

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

Before her marriage Mrs. Crisp was Miss Clara Burton, of Savannah. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Carr S. Glover and Mrs. G. P. Davenport, and two sons, Judge Charles R. Crisp and Frederick Crisp, and a sister, Mrs. John N. Scarborough. She was 59 years of age.

OBSERVE 157TH ANNIVERSARY.

Col. S. H. Estill Was Re-elected President of Union Society.

Savannah, Ga., April 23.—(Special).—The one hundred and fifty-seventh anniversary of the Union Society was celebrated today at Bethesda, where stands the "orphan house" that was established by George Whitfield in the infancy of the colony of Georgia. This occasion has always been a memorable one in Chatham county. Baskets of provisions were taken today, as has been done from time immemorial, and a picnic was enjoyed by all.

Col. J. H. Estill, who for more than a quarter of a century has been at the head of the Union Society, by which Bethesda orphanage is conducted, was re-elected president. Other officers of the society were also re-elected.

A feature of the occasion was an address by Rev. Dr. W. M. Pickard, pastor of the First Baptist church. Another feature was the attendance for the first time since its organization a few weeks ago of the Whitfield Society, formed by graduates of the Bethesda orphanage. This has a membership of more than 150 alumni, many of whom reside outside of Chatham county. Graduates of Bethesda are to be found throughout the country. Among the number are some of the best known men in Savannah.

Candler Horse Guards Inspected.

Gainesville, Ga., April 23.—(Special).—Last night Colonel William L. O'Neal, of the Georgia state troops, and Lieutenant Case, of the United States army, inspected the Candler Horse Guards, officially designated as troop F of the First cavalry of Georgia. Company inspection was quite satisfactorily passed, then a number of movements of the troops were executed and the Lieutenants and sergeants allowed to demonstrate their knowledge. The members of the troop feel greatly pleased that they passed a creditable inspection.

G. V. Boddie, LaGrange, Ga.

LaGrange, Ga., April 23.—(Special).—George V. Boddie, aged 78, died at 7 o'clock this morning at his home a few miles from LaGrange. He was one of Troup's oldest and best known citizens. His wife survives him. He was a brother of the late Dr. Thomas Boddie.

The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Boddie was a Confederate veteran.

CAPITOL GOSSIP

Commissioner of Agriculture T. G. Hudson is just beginning to receive replies to a large number of letters which he sent out to prospective immigrants to the south.

The letters were sent early in the present month to parties in northern and eastern states, who are known or believed to have a desire to move into the south and engage in agricultural pursuits. The letter called attention to the comparatively low price of Georgia farm lands, their productivity and the possibilities here for the agriculturist. It showed that there are exceptional opportunities for the small farmer, the trucker, the dairymen, poultry raisers and others of these classes near practically every town and city in the state.

The replies so far received, while not particularly encouraging, indicate that there is a disposition on the part of the writers to move into the south, if they can find positions and locations to suit them. In these matters, however, they indicate that they are somewhat particular. They want to be assured of incomes from the start considerably in advance of those they are now receiving, and in some instances they want their railroad fare paid. Of course the department has no provision for meeting such expenses as these, nor is it making much effort to get the class of immigration that balks at the payment of transportation.

However, there have hardly a sufficient number of replies been received as yet to indicate what results may be expected from this class of work, but if Commissioner Hudson is getting as many as ten per cent of them to cast their lots with

CLOSING DAYS IN HIGH SCHOOLS NEW BUSINESS FOR STOCKDELL

Plans for Commencement Exercises Have Been Perfectured. Well Known Atlanta Will Enter Real Estate Field.

The graduating exercises of the Boys' High school will be held on Friday evening, June 7, at the Grand opera house, and those of the Girls' High school on the Thursday night preceding, June 6. Professor William M. Slaton, principal of the Boys' High school, stated yesterday that the enrollment for the past scholastic year was the largest in the history of the school—there being enrolled during the scholastic year 309 pupils, while for the calendar year about 450 were enrolled.

The four speakers for the graduating night, June 7, will be: Flavelly Akers, Charles G. Adams, J. Walton LeCraw and James Jackson Slaton. The two first speakers were selected by the principal, while the two latter were elected to these places by the class. The young men will be allowed to select their own subjects, but they will be passed upon by the principal before delivery.

These four young men have been among the most studious in the school, taking a high stand among their fellow students and some splendid orations may be expected on the graduating evening.

The diplomas will be delivered to the graduating class by President Luther Z. Rosser, of the board of education, who will also deliver a graduating address to them.

An interesting and novel feature of the occasion will be the physical culture exercises by the entire class. A delightful program is being arranged, with several charming musical numbers, and altogether the exercises this year, while brief, will be one of the most interesting ever held by that school.

Miss Nettie Sergeant, principal of the Girls' High school, stated yesterday that the program for the graduating exercises of that school would be completed in the next few days, when it will be publicly announced.

Miss Sergeant is now receiving essays from the 73 young women composing both the literary and commercial classes. From these two essays will be selected from the former, and one from the latter, making three essays to be read on the graduating night, there being 21 in the graduating commercial class.

It will take several days yet to scan through this large number of compositions, and select the three best to be read on that night. These essays are not always necessarily read by the contributors, care being exercised to put forward the best readers to read the best productions.

Like the Boys' High school, the Girls' High school will soon cease one of its most successful years. The enrollment this year was 578, says Miss Sergeant. Within ten days, she thinks, the full program of the graduates' exercises will be ready to be announced.

The pupils of the Girls' High school will take no part in any of the Memorial day exercises, but the boys from Professor Slaton's school will march in the parade, all the schools observing the holiday, as has been the custom for years.

There will be no tree-planting or Arbor day, says Miss Sergeant, for the very good reason, that they have nowhere to plant them. "I wish we had," said the principal, "for the lack of school ground is one of the drawbacks of city schools."

The May exercises of the Boys' High school, announced the principal yesterday, will be held in Browning hall, in the Girls' High school building, on Monday, June 3, at 10:30 o'clock.

The debate between members of the Alcephronian Literary and Debating Society will be the feature of this occasion. The subject for this debate has not yet been selected, although the readers of the debate and the other disputants have.

The leaders in this debate are: Vernon Sikes and Edwin Stauffer, the other disputants being David H. Kistner, Roy Goree, Leonard Denton, Clyde Daniel, Henry Elliott and Rudolph Leeb.

The declaimers are: From the third grade, Abraham Schwartz; from the second, Grady Wells; from the first, Daniel Schwartz.

These occasions of the Alcephronian Society are very popular, and are always attended by enthusiastic concourse of the friends of the young gentlemen taking part in the exercises, as well as the student body itself.

Llewellyn Terrell is the president of the society.

Grice to Speak at Americus.—Americus, Ga., April 23.—(Special.)—Arrangements have been consummated by the Ladies' Memorial Association of Americus for an elaborate observance of Confederate memorial day next Friday. Confederate veterans, the military and hundreds of pupils of the Americus public schools will participate. Hon. Herbert Grice, of Hawkinsville, will deliver the annual oration.

Early Closing at Americus.—Americus, Ga., April 23.—(Special.)—The business houses of Americus have signed the customary agreement to close their doors at 6 o'clock in the afternoon during the summer, the agreement becoming effective May 1st. Practically all business houses in Americus will participate in the early closing movement.

REDUCED RATES ARGUED BEFORE THE COMMISSION

President Roosevelt Criticized

by Official of Nashville,

Chattanooga & St.

Louis.

LABOR UNIONS OF MACON

OPPOSED REDUCED RATES

Hooper Alexander Will Present Side of the Farmers' Union This Morning. Railroad Officials Present at the Hearing Yesterday.

After a hearing which lasted until 6:30 o'clock in the evening, the railroad commission took a recess until this morning at 9 o'clock, when the concluding arguments of the railroad men in opposition to a reduction of rates will be resumed. Following the statements from the railroad men, Hon. Hooper Alexander will present arguments for the Farmers' Union.

The feature of yesterday's session was the appearance before the commission of a committee from Macon representing the labor unions of that city, who opposed the reduction of rates on the idea that any reduction would mean a cut in wages all along the line. The committee was composed of J. G. Postell, chairman; R. E. Cason, J. O. McGinnis, J. L. DeKle, D. E. Cason, E. B. Campbell and J. L. Jackson. A delegation from the Farmers' Union was present, but was not heard from as the day was consumed in the hearing of arguments for the railroad men.

H. T. Smith, vice president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, was the principal speaker of the morning session. His speech in the main was technical. In reply to a direct question from Mr. Alexander, Mr. Smith admitted that the making of rates is a matter of "quick perception and intuition," a reply which he said would not be understood by any save a practical railroad man. He further declared:

"In my judgment, there are no facts which, without analysis, that would justify the commission in reducing the fare from 3 cents."

Aside from this statement and Mr. Smith's strictures on President Roosevelt and his explanations of what Harriman has done for the Chicago and Alton, the hearing was a devoid of special interest.

Many of the short lines of the state were represented. A. Pope presented the argument for these, and there were a number of short speeches in their behalf by officials.

The Morning Session.—Mr. Alexander said he had submitted the main facts he would rely on, and did not care to submit anything further until the roads had been heard.

H. F. Smith, vice president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, representing the tenants of the state road, stated that his road was present without information as to the position of the plaintiffs. He would be glad to know if the Farmers' Union was proceeding under any recent concerted action of the mass of farmers.

Hooper Alexander asked what the relevancy of the question was. He thought any citizen of the state had a right to petition the commission. He contended the answering of the question would only consume time.

Mr. Smith withdrew the question. Continuing, he said the petition suggests taking into consideration the adoption of a 2-cent fare, but not to be unfair or unjust to the railroads. His road was as well ready to be influenced and guided by the needs of the farmers, provided all the facts have been placed before the great mass of the farm people.

The speaker digressed for a time, to speak of the late John W. Thomas, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, and said that he was proud to work for the Western and Atlantic railroad.

He submitted that the obligation of the road had been more than fulfilled since the present lessees had taken charge of it. After operating the road ten and one-half years, the bulk of the work had been devoted to improvements. When the road was leased, he said it was practically without modern equipment. It was stated that the road had on deposit with the state the sum of $500,000 to guarantee fulfillment of the contract. The amount was drawing an interest of 3 per cent, as against 6 per cent paid out as interest on bonds of the road.

No Effort to Conceal.—Mr. Smith said that the lessees of the state road had no desire to conceal anything from the state. The United States had a right to know everything concerning it. When Major Thomas died his bid with the state had reason for believing that passenger fares would be advanced by the state. A letter from Major Thomas based on this subject was read. The letter stated that after trying the experiment for three years of a reduced rate, it was shown there was no increase in gross earnings—that the average had been the same per month before the reduction and after for a period of thirty months. Major Thomas had contended that the reduced rate would not pay the operating expenses of the road. As the result of Major Thomas' petition, the rate of the road was restored to 3 cents. Since that time there had been a steady increase in earnings, due not solely to the increased rate, but also to the growth of travel.

Service of the Road.—Mr. Smith then read a clipping from an eastern publication to the effect that the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis had made the best record in the United States for the prompt delivery of mails. This, he contended, spoke well for the management of the road in the line of the general adverse criticism of the roads throughout the country.

After stating that the road's present prosperity was due to the strength of the lessees, he urged that nothing be done by the commission at this time to decrease the valuation of the state's property.

Mr. Smith said he understood Mr. Alexander to have said that no road should be allowed to run more than a reasonable amount based on its cash. The road at present was earning 7 per cent based on the valuation. The state of Georgia was receiving more revenue per mile for the Western and Atlantic than the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis was outside of the state, he said.

What It Might Have Done.—What might have been done by the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis by leasing from its competitor, the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, was brought out, and it was shown that this road could have been leased at a much lower rental, that the cost of maintenance would have been less.

However, he said, the pride of forming a great system had caused the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis to pay the maximum price, and thereby the state of Georgia was the gainer. Speaking of the travel of the average citizen, he said a smaller per cent of farmers traveled or cared to travel than any other class of citizens.

The defeat of the rate bill by the Tennessee legislature, Mr. Smith said, had done more to encourage the building of railroads in that state than any action he knew of.

Mr. Smith said that the wage scale was constant, and that this was an important factor in increasing the operating expenses of every road. He found no fault with the wage increase. He thought wages should be higher, but he cited that fact as important.

Number of Railroad Employees.—Statistics of 1906, Mr. Smith said, showed that there was a railroad employee to every sixty-six inhabitants in Tennessee, and that the number of adults. He was here not only representing the material interests of a corporation, but the interests of employees and their families. He said he thought the farmers of the country were more interested in good service than in lower rates.

He was here not only representing the material interests of a corporation, but the interests of employees and their families. He said he thought the farmers of the country were more interested in good service than in lower rates.

Mr. Smith said that the wage scale was constant, and that this was an important factor in increasing the operating expenses of every road. He found no fault with the wage increase. He thought wages should be higher, but he cited that fact as important.

Number of Railroad Employees.—Statistics of 1906, Mr. Smith said, showed that there was a railroad employee to every sixty-six inhabitants in Tennessee, and that the number of adults. He was here not only representing the material interests of a corporation, but the interests of employees and their families. He said he thought the farmers of the country were more interested in good service than in lower rates.

ing expenses and make improvements which were imperative.

Mr. Pope consumed a greater part of the afternoon in his argument, which included many of the arguments used by Mr. Smith, but he confined himself entirely to passenger rates. He filed a lengthy statement with the commission showing the exact condition of each road.

Mr. Oglesby next spoke along similar lines. Mr. Oglesby said that when a farmer, as a general rule, had a case he came into court.

"Now, if there is a farmer on that side who makes 180 or 100 bales of cotton, I would like for him to come forward," he said.

"I have here some letters from farmers and all of them oppose reduction. In order for railroads to succeed there must be a policy of construction, not of destruction. I consider the railroads the most discriminated against of any corporations in the state."

He stated that the cost of transportation on his particular line had increased the result of increased cost of material and labor. His road had done a greater volume of business this year than last, but his earnings had made much less money.

He saw no reason why a railroad should not be allowed to recover its money invested just as a bank or other institution. Banks make from 18 to 20 per cent and are not interfered with. A bank is just as much a public institution as a railroad.

Mr. Crews, of the Albany Northern, said his road had been built by the people of America and Albany, who had bonded the road. The road did not make money and the bondholders came into possession of it and it was now owned outside of the state.

He said that the state should create a business. That is all there is to the proposition. You can take the details and work it out for yourself, and I do not believe you will reduce the rates of the roads of Georgia.

Play of the Politicians.—"You know how these farmers are talked to by politicians. They take 'em off around the corner and say: 'Come here, Bill, we ain't after your small friends; we're after those big fellows up there. That's the kind of talk that gets 'em,' said he.

He said that the learned attorney general is in favor of a law to force a railroad to sell its stock at par. If he can frame such a law he ought to be able to provide a purchaser of the stock at par. His proposition is wholly impractical.

"Gentlemen, the whole trouble in our business is politics. If you'll take politics out of our business we'll take out the water. We'll swap barrels with you right along."

He said times were harder with the railroads this year than last, and were going to continue to grow harder if you do not look out.

Rumor of Politics.—"I do not know how true it is, but there is a rumor going the rounds that there is politics in this movement; that this is a plan to defeat Hoke Smith's railroad plan. Gentlemen, Mr. Smith do his own work in his own way."

The chairman interrupted to say that such a rumor was unfounded. John E. Donelson, of Bainbridge, representing the Georgia, Florida and Alabama, said that if the rate of the short lines were reduced to 2 cents the passenger earnings of these lines would be reduced $12,000 beyond actual running expenses.

He stated that railroading was the poorest business he had ever entered—that he had only earned 7 per cent on his money in eleven years.

J. Randolph Anderson, counsel for the Savannah and Statesboro, next spoke. He said the fundamental trouble lay with the movement represented by Mr. Alexander. Speaking for his road, he said it ran through a sparsely settled community and it depended for 70 per cent of its freight business on Statesboro. The total operating expenses of the road's passenger business were so large that $1,800 was the net earnings. Such a thing as an accident was unheard of. One loss of $10,000 would wipe out the profits for ten years. If the 2-cent rate went into effect the passenger earnings would be wiped out and the passenger department would show a deficit.

Mr. Anderson said that the application of a 2-cent rate to the larger lines would compel the competing smaller lines, of less than 100 miles, to come to the 2-cent rate.

Necessary to Rebuild.—Colonel Bailey, of the Wrightsville and Tennille, spoke briefly for his road. He said it was necessary practically to rebuild. From a general view of the situation he thought this was the time for rebuilding, rather than lowering them. At the present time, he stated, it looked as if it would be impossible to pay a dividend and make the needed improvements incident to increased traffic. Wages and material had increased out of all proportion to increased business. He said the valuation of the road was twice the capital stock, and that the state was getting out of the road almost as much as the stockholders.

He spoke of the fact that the recent school tax had caused taxations all along the line to incorporate and levy taxes against the railroad, whereas they did not collect tax against the individual.

He instanced one case of a community which was 10 miles long, being incorporated. This was mentioned only to show what the road had to contend with.

Those Present at Hearing.—Prominent among those present were: H. F. Smith, vice president and traffic manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis; Major W. L. Darby, general passenger agent Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis; J. W. Oglesby, president South Georgia and West Coast; Hon. G. G. Glenn, representative-elect Whitfield county; Charles E. No make of Ready Suits for Men are so thoroughly characteristic in Custom-tailored modeling, fit and finishing.

The basic reason for dependableness in the Eiseman Bros. garments, lies in the fact, that ALL-WOOL fabrics, the recognized essential in good clothes-making, are used to the exclusion of all other weaves.

This fact, unqualifiedly established, provides an insurance to the wearer against disappointment and dissatisfaction.

Add to this, the highest perfected skill in tailoring; and style that exemplifies the precise ethics of prevailing modes, and you are securing the fusion of the truest ideals in clothing, when you select the "Big Store" as a guide to correct dress.

WANTED.
A REAL ESTATE SALESMAN to help me take care of the most rapidly growing business in Atlanta.
CUSTIS N. ANDERSON,
627 Candler Building.

A CARD.

Atlanta, Ga., April 24, 1907.

To the General Public:
I have seen Atlanta grow from a population of 30,000 people (since 1874), to her present magnificent proportions, and in all these thirty-three years I have been more or less occupied in buying and selling real estate in a small way—often feeling that I wanted to engage in the business regularly—in connection with my other business, that of Fire Insurance. Believing that the time is now ripe for this undertaking, I have decided to embark in the business of buying and selling Real Estate, and to that end will "open shop" in the Prudential Building on the first of the coming month. I take this means of announcing myself as a full-fledged, up-to-date Real Estate Agent, and promise that all property placed in my hands for sale will be handled in the best business-like manner, and where my efforts are desired in buying property for clients, I guarantee they shall have the benefit of my best judgment. If you wish to sell real estate of any kind, and want the best prices obtainable, come and see me; and if you want to purchase real estate of any kind, I can act for you in that capacity also, so come and see me.

Yours to command,

H. C. STOCKDELL.

"WONDERLAND HIGHLIGHTS."
A NEW subdivision of property that originally belonged to the late Col. L. P. Grant. It overlooks the property that is now being developed by the Wonderland Amusement Company, and is just four blocks east of Grant Park, fronting Borne and Kilian streets. The city is building streets to the borders of this subdivision, and the new residences in course of erection witness the fact. This new subdivision shows the thrift and energy that surround this section. When this property is sold, some of the new purchasers will build homes, thus bringing new life and activity. Enhancement of values will be sure to follow. We propose to make the terms in easy reach of those who wish to save their earnings and put them to work. Every lot will be sold without reserve to the highest bidder. INVESTIGATE THE PROPERTY AND BE ON HAND READY TO BUY. TERMS: TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS CASH; BALANCE TEN DOLLARS PER MONTH, SEVEN PER CENT ON EACH LOT.

CHRONIC DISEASES CURED

I make a specialty of treating and curing chronic diseases of men and women. I have had a long and large experience in the treatment of such cases and my success as a rule has been satisfactory to the patients and myself. I attribute this success not only to the fact that I have studied these cases very closely but because of my direct contact with a large number of them. Then, too, I always give each case my personal attention and also prepare all medicines myself. I have the highest requirements of the case. If you suffer from a chronic trouble of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidney or Bladder, or from a Nervous, Blood or Skin Disease, I invite you to call for free examination, consultation and advice. Write me if you cannot call now.

LIVER TROUBLE.

A dull, sluggish liver always brings a dull, sluggish feeling to the entire body. When the liver works properly the blood courses through the body in a bright red stream. When the liver is inactive the blood becomes dull and muddy, and it is full of poisonous matter.

A great many people try to get a fine, clear, pink and white complexion by rubbing things on their faces. They might rub a board of turpentine for the liver causes it. Only bright, red blood brings fine complexion. Blood loaded with impurities from the liver sends the impurities out through the pores of the skin and turns the skin a brownish yellow.

"My health had been poorly for several years. My face was yellow and covered with pimples. I was bothered constantly with chronic constipation, had little or no appetite and could not sleep well at night. I became weak and lost all ambition. I tried many different medicines, but nothing seemed to help me until I began taking Cooper's New Discovery. It seemed to help me at once. Now, after I have taken several bottles I feel entirely well. My face is clear, I sleep well, have a good appetite and am quite myself again."

"I am deeply grateful for my restored health." Michael Silk, 24 Kentucky Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.
